

500,000 Welcome Ike in Sao Paulo Visit Rocky's Shelter Plan Appears Doomed

May Delay System for One Year

Lawmakers Agree State Should Be Told of Dangers

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's mandatory program for fallout shelters is doomed in the current legislative session, all signs indicated today.

Rockefeller has called for legislation that would require all property owners to build, at their own expense, shelters for protection against radioactive fallout from a nuclear attack.

Sympathetic Hearing

The Republican governor won a sympathetic hearing Wednesday at a dramatic meeting with all members of the Legislature. There was general approval of his stand that residents should be alerted to dangers of nuclear warfare and steps that could be taken to avert wholesale death from radioactive fallout.

But the lawmakers stopped short of endorsing the mandatory plan, which would cost homeowners a total of 800 million dollars.

There is growing talk of delaying the program for at least one year to allow time for a sweeping education campaign.

As of today, there was considerable doubt that there would even be legislation introduced this year for a mandatory program.

Rockefeller has declined to say whether he will ask the 1960 Legislature to put his plan into operation.

Democrats Doubtful

Republican majority leaders, who would have to steer such a plan through the Legislature, have taken a hands-off attitude. Democratic leaders doubt that a mandatory plan would win approval.

In other legislative developments:

1. Rockefeller announced a plan under which the take-home pay of the state's 100,000 employees would be increased by 20 million dollars a year—without any increase in the new budget. The state would take over five per cent of their pension payments, with the first expenditures due in the fiscal year 1961-62.

Assembly Tables Bill

2. The Assembly balked at a Senate-approved bill, Wednesday that would allow state and local governments to let public works contracts up to $5,000 without public bidding. The measure was tabled. The sponsors say it would save money on newspaper advertising. Opponents say it would create opportunities for graft.

3. The State AFL-CIO urged legislation to outlaw strikebreaking activities. It cited testimony before a state committee that a private organization had supplied strikebreakers in a dispute between the International Typographical Union and publishers in Westchester, Nassau and Niagara counties.

Pendergast Critical

4. State Democratic Chairman Michael H. Pendergast challenged. (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

Columbia Girl, 12, Shot by Cousin, Dies of Wounds

A 12-year-old Columbia County girl, who was shot accidentally Saturday with a .22 caliber rifle in the hands of her four-year-old cousin, died in Albany Hospital Wednesday.

Brenda Platner of Livingston was shot in the chin, the bullet lodging against the spinal cord between neck vertebrae.

The mishap occurred while Brenda and her mother were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moshimar of Canaan. Richard Moshimar, their son, loaded the rifle and when Brenda walked into the room he pointed the gun at her and the weapon discharged.

Brenda was treated at the scene by Dr. William Bahnsen of Canaan and then taken to Columbia Memorial Hospital in Hudson. She was later transferred to Albany.

The girl remained in critical condition while doctors sought an improvement in her condition before attempting to remove the bullet. She was partially paralyzed.

Coroner John Marra of Albany county withheld a verdict in Brenda's death.

Cause of Shooting Spree Killing 5 Still a Mystery

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Why sharpshooter Daniel Raymond killed four passersby and wounded five others before being shot dead himself remained a mystery today to residents in the nearby mountain community of Chalkhill.

Although Raymond's wife indicated the shooting spree was touched off by his "nervousness," there were no clear-cut answers. State police, protected by a tank, cut down the 42-year-old Raymond with a hail of machine gun bullets as he fled his burning home, climaxing a lengthy battle. Incendiary and tear gas bombs lobbed from the tank had set the home afire.

The mountaineer saw a doctor only Feb. 16 because he was nervous, his wife said. Raymond, a pipeline worker for a natural gas company, had a reputation among the mountain folk in this southwestern Pennsylvania area for being a crack shot. He did his lethal shooting from the second story of his home, located about 50 feet from a rural road.

Before police shut off the road to traffic Raymond fired for nine hours at almost everything that moved—cars and trucks. Only once did he fail to fire at a moving vehicle. This was a school bus carrying about 50 youngsters. Veteran state troopers hugged the tank as it opened fire. They, too, peppered the house with volley after volley. Finally, the berserk Raymond tried to make a run for it. He ran a few feet, then dropped as the machine gun bullets cut through his body.

Those killed by Raymond were: Mary Frances Sissler, 61, and Edna Maes, 53, both of Ohio; Pa.; William Burd, 49-year-old. (Continued on Page 10, Col. 8)

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A 40-member committee was named by Gov. Rockefeller today to help spur industrial research — the source of new products and new industries.

Chancellor Clifford C. Furnas of the University of Buffalo was appointed chairman of the Advisory Council for the Advancement of Industrial Research and Development in New York State. Educators, industrialists and government officials are among the members.

Functions of Group

The council will recommend ways in which the state can attract research and development operations. It also will study means to improve training of scientists and engineers.

As a result of industrial research, Rockefeller said, in a statement, "a growing volume of new products already is moving from the laboratory to the production lines."

Other research work, he said, "promises to give rise to entire new industries and many thousands of new employment opportunities for our increasing population."

First Meeting March 14

The council's first meeting will be in Albany March 14. These are the members: Representing education: Clark D. Ahlberg, vice president for administration and research, Syracuse University, former state budget director; Dean William Allan, School of Technology, City College of New York; President Lloyd V. Berkner, Associated Universities Inc., New York City; Dean Dale R. Corson, engineering college, Cornell University; Dean John R. Dunning, engineering school, Columbia University; President Richard G. Folsom, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute; Dean Ralph A. Galbraith, L. C. Smith College of Engineering, Syracuse University.

President Carroll V. Newsom, New York University; Dr. W. Albert Noyes Jr., chemistry department, University of Rochester; Dr. Isidor I. Rabi, physics department, Columbia; President Ira G. Suicide of Firm's Leader Furnishes Life to Company

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
HERKIMER, N. Y. (AP)—The death of Samuel D. Earl, by his own hand, gave life to his furniture company.

Did he intend it so? This Mohawk-valley community, for whom the Standard Furniture Co. is a major economic force, doesn't know. Police found no evidence that Earl had intended to take his own life.

Earl, 46-year-old president of the wooden office furniture manufacturing firm, shot himself to death at his home in Old Forge last Friday.

The financially stricken company could not pay its 230 employees that day. That night, however, Standard's board of directors announced that working capital had become available. The money, reportedly $700,000, was from an insurance policy the company carried on Earl to guarantee uninterrupted operations in the event of his death.

The board did not reveal its source of capital then, but confirmed Wednesday that the money came mainly from the insurance. Before his death, Earl had been trying to sell the business.

That night, the directors announced there were no immediate plans to sell. Meanwhile, a citizens committee that raised nearly $200,000 to aid the firm, plans to return the money next week.

Earlier this month, after the financial plight of the company became known, the residents had given the committee about $125,000 in cash and pledged $75,000 more, in return for $100 company bonds.

The committee put the money in trust until the company's status was clear. While the committee prepared to return the money, funds still trickled in from people unaware that Earl, by his death, apparently saved his company.

Khrushchev Is Jovial In Talk With Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: As an Associated Press correspondent in Moscow for three years, Roy Essoyan encountered Nikita Khrushchev many times in many moods. Essoyan, now an AP correspondent in Southeast Asia, has met Khrushchev again, this time finding the Premier in a bantering, bubbling tourist mood. Here is Essoyan's account of their conversation, which was held in Russian.

Po'keepsie Police Save Man Given Poison Pills

A 39-year-old Cambridge, Mass., man, who authorities say was given several poisonous pills by mistake at the Beacon Health Office, has been transferred from Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie to the Castle Point Veterans Administration Hospital, Beacon.

Police Lieutenant George Traver told The Freeman George DeMars apparently was in satisfactory condition, although he will be confined to the hospital a few days for observation.

Police Start Search
Beacon Police Lieutenant Samuel Rogers confirmed a report Wednesday afternoon that the Beacon Health Office yesterday morning gave several pills to the Cambridge man in the belief they were a common pain reliever, only to discover later they were of a poisonous compound.

Lieutenant Traver said he received word from Lieutenant Rogers that a man had been given the pills and later was seen heading toward Poughkeepsie.

All Poughkeepsie policemen were given a description of the man, who was picked up in Union Square near the Mid-Hudson Bridge and rushed to police headquarters. DeMars was taken to Vassar Hospital where he was given emergency treatment.

DeMars told police he stopped in at the Beacon Health Office after he became ill. He said he (Continued on Page 10, Col. 2)

Ellenville Has Another Blaze

2-Story House Is Damaged by Fire

Fire struck again in the village of Ellenville Wednesday evening at a two-story, frame house at 2 Mill Street, occupied by a family on the second floor. The fire department reached the scene early and soon had the blaze under control.

Chief Frank Groppe told The Freeman this morning that the fire is of undetermined origin but "could be suspicious." It is under investigation by village and state police.

The structure, owned by Harry Kass, was reported afire about 6:53 p. m. It is located across the street from the Ellenville Lumber Company which suffered a costly blaze on Feb. 2. The loss was American baseball caps and the rigors of international goodwill tours this week.

The discussion, held in an Indonesian rest house near the ancient Borobudur Temple in central Java startled Soviet and Indonesian officials.

Khrushchev was at his best, clowning and bubbling with good humor. His behavior, soon after the most anti-American speech of his current Southeast Asian tour, reflected his changeable disposition.

Shushes Aides
He was friendly, brusquely charming, and even shushed some of his aides who tried to warn him against my views.

Khrushchev and his party were relaxing after climbing around Borobudur, a thousand-year-old Buddhist monument whose terraces depict the life of Buddha in intricate stone carvings. The Premier beckoned me over to the seat beside him, which Indonesian President Sukarno had just vacated.

I took off my crumpled blue denim baseball cap as I sat down. Khrushchev grabbed it, examined it and waved it around.

Calls BB Cap Rag
"This is the sort of thing that baffles me about the United States," he said. "America is such a rich country and you Americans wear rags like this."

"That's no rag," I said. "It may not be very beautiful, but it's very handy at baseball games and for chasing you around these islands under the hot Indonesian sun."

Khrushchev took another quizzical look at the cap.

"Try it," I said. Khrushchev slapped the cap on his head and posed for photographers.

Living Costs Dip Second Time; Still Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower prices for clothing, new cars, eggs and most meats brought a slight decline in living costs in January.

It was the second straight monthly dip in the government's living cost index.

Even so, the index is still just a little under its record high. And, although down from December, the January living cost level was a record high for a January.

The Labor Department reported today the index dropped one-tenth of one per cent in January to 125.4 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This is the lowest living cost level since September but it is 1.3 per cent above a year earlier.

The slight change will have little effect on wages of various workers whose union contracts provide for wage adjustments geared to the index: Wages of about 60,000 workers in aircraft and farm machinery industries will be reduced, in most cases by one cent an hour.

About 14,000 trucking industry workers will receive a one per cent hour raise on a different adjustment basis.

There will be no wage change for about one million workers in the auto and related products industries.

The Labor Department also reported that spendable earnings of factory workers remained at a record high in January. This is contrary to the seasonal tendency and is despite a rise of one-half of one per cent in the social security tax.

Spendable earnings—or net paychecks after tax deductions—averaged $82.33 a week in January for a worker heading a family of four, and $74.74 for the single worker.

Compared with a year earlier these earnings were up about $3.50 a week or 4 1/2 per cent.

Fastest Growing City
Confetti and ticker tape rained down from buildings surrounding the valley in which the central plaza is situated.

Considering the weather, it was a big turnout. Eisenhower on arrival reported he had heard Sao Paulo is the fastest growing city in the world. He said in a brief greeting speech it was a personal pleasure to have the chance to "witness first-hand (Continued on Page 10, Col. 2)

Later at a luncheon Eisenhower extolled the free-enterprise system and pledged continued U. S. support for Brazil's economic development.

Freedom Best Bet

Opportunity without discrimination is a vital aspect of democracy in both Brazil and the United States, he said, and freedom in the long run yields the most productive economic system ever devised by man.

"Our socially conscious private-enterprise system benefits all the poor owners and workers alike," he said. "It has resulted in high productivity, high consumption, high wages, and a reasonable return on investment. Balanced progress is our watchword."

Eisenhower pledged that "within our financial and economic capacity, we shall continue to support Brazilian development." Brazil has received more than 2 1/2 billion dollars in U. S. public and private credits.

1,000 at Luncheon
A thousand guests attended the luncheon, sponsored by the Commercial Assn., the Industrial Assn. and the Rural Society. These big trade organizations include among their members businessmen who manage branch factories for U.S. and European companies manufacturing their products here for Brazilian distribution.

Sees U.S. Action Essential to Aid Education Levels

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

Associated Press Special Service
WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal action is essential to raise the educational levels of the children of migrant farm workers, Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-NJ) said today.

Over half the estimated 100,000 school age children of migrant farm laborers in the United States, he said, are from one to four years behind their age group in school work.

"A serious educational problem exists for these children," Williams said in a Senate speech. He added the influx of these children into some school districts creates an unusually heavy burden on school budgets.

Williams is chairman of a Senate labor subcommittee now investigating the migrant farm labor problem. He plans to conduct public hearings next week in Florida.

One bill introduced by Williams and now before his subcommittee would provide matching funds to help defray the added local expense of educating the children of migrant workers during regular school sessions.

It also would provide grants for establishing summer schools and to promote interstate cooperation to help solve the problem.

Claims Goodwill Mean

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Adrienne Grey, a model, went to court Wednesday seeking temporary alimony pending trial of her suit for separate maintenance.

She said her husband beat her, hit her with a shoe, was unfaithful with 15 other women and took her jewelry away the day before Valentine's Day. She also told the judge she was so fearful of her husband that she gave him five rifles, two pistols and ammunition to her lawyer for safe-keeping.

Her husband's name: Marvin R. Goodwill.

Rotary Project, Plans Announced

Progress on the installation of the non-sectarian Chapel and Meditation Room in the Kingston Hospital was reported Wednesday at the weekly luncheon-meeting of Kingston Rotary. This project, it is felt by the local service club, will fill a need long felt among community clergymen of all faiths. It also will be open for use by patients, nurses, doctors, families of patients and other visitors to the hospital. Several gifts and memorials have been presented to the committee for the project. Plans were announced for Kingston Rotary to pay a return visit to the Kingston, Pennsylv-vania Rotary Club on Wednesday, April 27.

Andrew Kozak was named to fill a vacancy on the board of directors.

The death of Ches Perry of Chicago, who was secretary of the National Association of Rotary Clubs since its formation in 1910, was announced. He was credited with being the builder of Rotary International.

Nominations for directors and officers of the club will be held at the Wednesday, March 2 meeting.

Services Are Expanding At Benedictine Hospital

Reports filed for the year 1959 at the annual meeting of the medical staff of the Benedictine Hospital showed further expansion of service to the people of the Kingston area. The number of inpatients treated last year was 7,940, an increase of 413 over 1958. The number of outpatients treated at the hospital amounted to 4,832, an increase of 612 over 1958. The total patients treated last year was 12,772, this is an increase of 1,025 patients over 1958. The reports filed by Edwin B. Bolz, associate administrator, also showed during the year 1959 that there was an average daily census of 147 patients per day. The total patient care days amounted to 53,721.

The financial background of the Benedictine also expanded. The net income from patients after allowances and bad debts of $114,599 was $1,169,414. This is an increase of $149,283 over last year. The payroll for 1959 amounted to $750,426 an increase of $31,541 over the previous year. Supplies and expenses amounted to $480,400 an increase of $48,337 over 1958. The total operating expenses amounted to $1,230,826, an increase of $79,878 over 1958.

The operating deficit for 1959 was $61,412, which was actually a decrease of $69,404 from last year's deficit of $130,817. The hospital then had supplementary income amounting to $119,281 and other expenses such as interest on mortgage and depreciation on buildings and equipment in the amount of $111,102. After this supplementary income and these other expenses the hospital experienced a net deficit for 1959 of $53,233, which is a decrease of $39,752 from the $92,986 deficit last year.

New Projects

Projects at the hospital include the total revision and redistribution of electrical current providing individual cut-outs for major areas. With this project the hospital will be placed on a bulk purchase plan of electricity and will save a considerable per year on electric bills. Within five weeks there will be completed the installation of an electronic air cleaner for both the operating room and delivery room air-conditioning units to provide a 97 per cent efficiency against bacteria and viruses entering the system.

Plans also are underway for a post-operative recovery room and a new emergency room suite. This week an "escort service" has been initiated. Under this service, Auxiliary members assist in escorting patients to the X-ray area for their pre-admission X-ray film and then taken to the floors, where they will be introduced to the floor nurse.

A new automatic switchboard will be installed. It will be one that will be an automatic internal dial system for internal extensions, plus better communications for the doctors. There will be direct lines to the Fire Department, Police Department and Kingston Hospital so there will be complete communication with all phases of our activity.

Sister M. Berenice, the administrator, in her report reviewed the enlarging and continuing development of the hospital facilities, which required time, energy and finances. The appointment of the associate administrator was made on account of the rapid growth and expansion of facilities. This was particularly evident following the opening of the south wing in 1952 and the new Nurses School and Residence in 1959, a 11 of which brought about a great increase in the administrative activities in the hospital.

Bequests, Contributions
The administrator expressed deep gratitude for the following generous bequests and contributions:
DeWitt Estate, $14,943.07; Mabel Loughran Estate, $135,000; Emily Rice Estate, $3,500; Ruby Appel Estate, $800; Mrs. Emily Chadbourne, $1,000; Amy J. Snyder, $3,500; IBM employees fund for the purchase of new equipment for the hospital, $3,000.

The report stated that one of the most valuable groups in helping in this great humanitarian work is the Ladies' Auxiliary, now under the leadership of Mrs. John J. McCardle, president. Their loyalty and support each year is reflected in the success of their many activities and with the 63 Junior Group Volunteers of the Auxiliary act as ambassadors of good will between the hospital and the community. A total of 3,051 hours of service were devoted to the hospital during the past year.

Public acknowledgement was given to the splendid service given the hospital by the mayor, department of public works, fire department and police department and the press for their cooperation.

Sister Berenice closed her report with thanks to all who have contributed to the work of the Benedictine Hospital in its service to the community, the medical staff, nursing staff, Women's Auxiliary and all other members of the hospital personnel in their various departments, who so faithfully performed their duties.

Sled Mishap Fatal

To the library were added 55 reference and 37 fiction books, plus 16 records of "Sound-Recorded Dramatic Episodes." Library holdings at this time are 1,732 books.

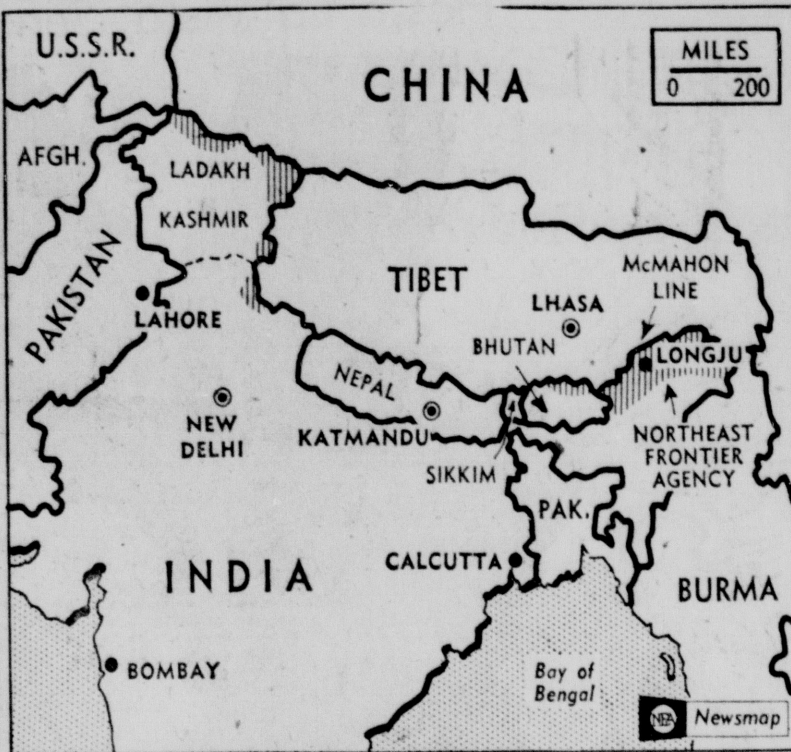

President Thanks Staff

Msgr. Martin J. Drury, president of the hospital, announced that the staff was reappointed for the year as it was constituted in 1959.

He also thanked the Sisters, Mr. Bolz, the doctors, nurses, nurses' aids, dietary personnel and all other personnel of the hospital, because they are all part of the orderly and smooth running of the hospital.

MORE ON THE BORDER DISPUTE—India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, right, has invited Red China's Premier Chou En-lai, left, to New Delhi sometime in March to discuss the border dispute between their countries. India has repeatedly rejected the Chinese claim—recently backed by violent clashes—to about 51,000 square miles of what she regards as Indian territory (shaded portions of Newsmap). Nehru has asked Chou that Chinese forces evacuate the outpost at Ladakh and the area of Longju. Chou rejected the proposal, claiming India's entire border is open to negotiation.

State Man, Wife Given Life for Roles as Huks

MANILA (AP)—The Philippine Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that an American and his Filipino wife must serve life sentences for their part in the Communist "Huk" rebellion.

The high court reversed a lower court order calling for the release of William Pomeroy, 43, of Rochester, N. Y., and his wife Celia. Pomeroy, a former U. S. Air Force historian who became chief propagandist for the Communist-led Hukbalahap forces in the Philippines, was captured with his wife in 1952. They were convicted on a blanket charge of rebellion, arson, robbery, murder and kidnapping, and were sentenced to life imprisonment.

Early in 1958 the Supreme Court ruled in another rebellion case that such a catch-all charge was unconstitutional. The Pomeroy's appealed their own conviction, contending they should have been convicted only of simple rebellion, punishable by a 12-year term. A lower court upheld their claim and ordered them released on a writ of habeas corpus.

In reversing the lower court, the Supreme Court said, its 1958 ruling against the catch-all rebellion charge was not retroactive and therefore could not apply to the Pomeroy's.

The ruling left the Pomeroy's one last opening in their bid for freedom, an appeal to President Carlos P. Garcia. It was not known whether they planned such an appeal.

BUILDING A GREATER AMERICA

As befits a nation with a swelling population and a broadening industrial base, the United States in the last three decades has sent its building activity soaring to record heights. More impressive, building today is a good deal bigger slice of the total economy.

Analyzing these trends and translating all figures into current dollars, the magazine Architectural Forum estimates that new construction in all forms has shot up 400 per cent, from 10.8 billion dollars in 1929 to 54.2 billion in 1959.

In the same span, the gross national product, the sum of our national economic effort, has risen less than 360 per cent. Furthermore, building now accounts for 11.3 per cent of the gross national product, which is its highest percentage in history.

If construction dollars today be measured against the U.S. population on a per person basis, they average out at $303 per capita. Just 10 years ago, the figure was $162.

Not surprisingly, in view of our astonishing population gains, residential building accounts for a rising share of new building. Thirty years back it was a third of all construction. Now it's 43 per cent, having rocketed upward 544 per cent in that period.

Nonresidential construction, though its proportion of the total has slipped from 31 to 24 per cent, still has gained 290 per cent as measured from 1929 to 1959.

Big gains have been registered in all categories—but especially in the building of schools, hospitals, churches, offices and stores. Even with depression and recession, industrial construction bounded up 148 per cent in 30 years.

The years since World War II have been the greatest "capital spending" years in U.S. history.

Realizing what a tremendous transfusion heavy capital outlays can give the general economy, people may understand why the level of such spending can largely determine the difference between recession and moderate prosperity, or between moderate prosperity and a boom.

Like the automobile industry, construction is an activity with Geiger-counting effects bouncing here and there through the whole economy. It is a big measuring rod on the state of our economic health—and growing bigger all the time.

WAR BY MISCALCULATION

Secretary of State Herter has raised the horrible specter of "war by miscalculation."

The secretary's warning was linked with a plea for a "more stable military environment." In its present anarchic state, relations between East and West make areas of contention such as Berlin explosive possibilities. Here especially the United States and her allies could be trapped into a military response to a Russian challenge, with neither side intending such an outcome.

The stable military environment that Herter seeks would embody safeguards against surprise attack, together with limitations on nuclear weapons under an inspection program. George F. Kennan, formerly of the State Department, would add to this a disengagement of potentially hostile forces in Central Europe.

Whatever the means chosen, the important thing is that the will to make such an accommodation be present. We cannot be sure whether the Soviet outlook has now changed enough so that this will be present in the Kremlin. But there can be no beginning unless the Soviet attitude is fully put to the test.

Secretary Herter has said in effect: the nations of the world must get off dead center. The peoples of the world must realize that there is not unlimited time in which to assure peace. War by miscalculation means just that: war unexpected, unwanted and irreversible. It could happen. But it is not inevitable. Individual and collective action to prevent it is possible. Until each of us has done all that he can in this common cause, there is no time for rest.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
WHO OWNS THE AIR

Radio and television, as presently organized in the United States, owe their existence to Herbert Hoover when he was Secretary of Commerce. Experimental stations had been established by the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company at Pittsburgh and the General Electric Company at Schenectady. There were about 50,000 poorly developed receiving sets in this country at the time that Herbert Hoover entered the Department of Commerce. The crystal set with earphones intrigued youngsters and many sets were homemade. It was not long before there were 320 radio stations in the country and the number was swiftly increasing. They were unlicensed, unregulated and their interference with each other turned the air into a Tower of Babel.

The Secretary of Commerce was authorized by law to regulate radio which was still mainly a ship-to-shore telegraph system. The first national conference of those engaged in this industry was called by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover on February 27, 1922. On that occasion, Hoover said:

"We have witnessed in the last four or five months one of the most astounding things that have come under my observation of American life. This Department estimates that today over 600,000 persons (one estimate, being 1,000,000) possess receiving sets, whereas there were fewer than 50,000 such sets a year ago. We are indeed today upon the threshold of a new means of widespread communication of intelligence that has the most profound importance from the point of view of public education and public welfare. The comparative cheapness . . . of receiving sets . . . bids fair to make them almost universal in the American home."

Further, he said: "It is therefore primarily a question of broadcasting, and it becomes of primary public interest to say who is to do the broadcasting, under what circumstances, and with what type of material. It is inconceivable that we should allow so great a possibility for service to be drowned in advertising chatter."

Subsequent conferences were called annually and the industry cooperating with the Department of Commerce devised a system of private ownership under public control. In February 1927, Congress passed an act which finally established the public ownership and regulation of the wave channels. These wave channels are now the property of the government of the United States, licensed to private companies for operation under specific conditions.

To clarify the position of the government, Secretary of Commerce Hoover said on March 10, 1924:

" . . . I can state emphatically that it would be most unfortunate for the people of this country, whom whom broadcasting has become an important incident of life, if its control should come into the hands of any single corporation, individual, or combination."

"It would be in principle the same as though the entire press of the country were so controlled. The effect would be identical whether this control arose under a patent monopoly or under any form of combination or over a wave channel. . . . While Hoover, in establishing the system which is in operation today, was opposed to censorship and never included such a possibility in any control measure, he did say on November 9, 1925:

"We hear a great deal about the freedom of the air, but there are two parties to freedom of the air, and to freedom of speech for that matter. There is the speaker and the listener. . . ."

And, "The ether is a public medium, and its use must be for public benefit. The use of a radio channel is justified only if there is public benefit. The dominant element for consideration in the radio field is, and always will be, the great body of the listening public. . . ."

'Odd' Behavior Is Often Only the Other Fellow's

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"All the world is queer save me and thee; And sometimes I think thee is a little queer." —Anonymous.

I wonder if I can persuade you to heed this saying whenever you're rubbed the wrong way by the "odd" behavior of some member of the family or a close associate.

You must try to remember that the good Lord gave each of us a different set of facial features and personality traits. Even our fingerprints are distinctive. Isn't it only natural then for some of our fellow creatures, from whom we differ, to regard our different features and traits as oddities or eccentricities?

Now just as our oddities differ in character so, too, do they differ in their importance to us, our families and our communities. It is unusual for any of our quirks to interfere in any way with the main stream of our lives or with the welfare of our families or communities.

But when an eccentricity of conduct threatens to interfere with the health or safety of the individual or his daily contacts, it becomes necessary to take remedial measures.

That is why some 17,000,000 Americans have sought or are seeking some sort of guidance or treatment to help them adjust to the challenging requirement of our complex civilization.

That is why half the hospital beds in the United States are presently occupied by persons with mental disturbances.

In contrast to the really serious disorders that require expert treatment and even confinement to a hospital, the vast majority of our oddities are of no importance in the conduct of our lives. Some may be turned to profitable use. Many others are sources of amusement to our families and friends. And all are readily explainable to understanding fellow creatures, each of whom probably has his or her particular peculiarity that requires our sympathetic understanding.

To illustrate these harmless quirks, take my fear of close contact with any baby who is suffering from a mild upper respiratory infection.

"Don't be such a fuss-budget," I'm told. "After all, it's only a helpless infant with nothing but a mild case of sniffles."

But it was only an infant with a mild case of sniffles that almost cost me my life when the virus I acquired caused a lung infection that kept me in an oxygen tent for almost a week.

Or again, take my annoyance with my wife because of her tireless devotion to the tasks of housecleaning.

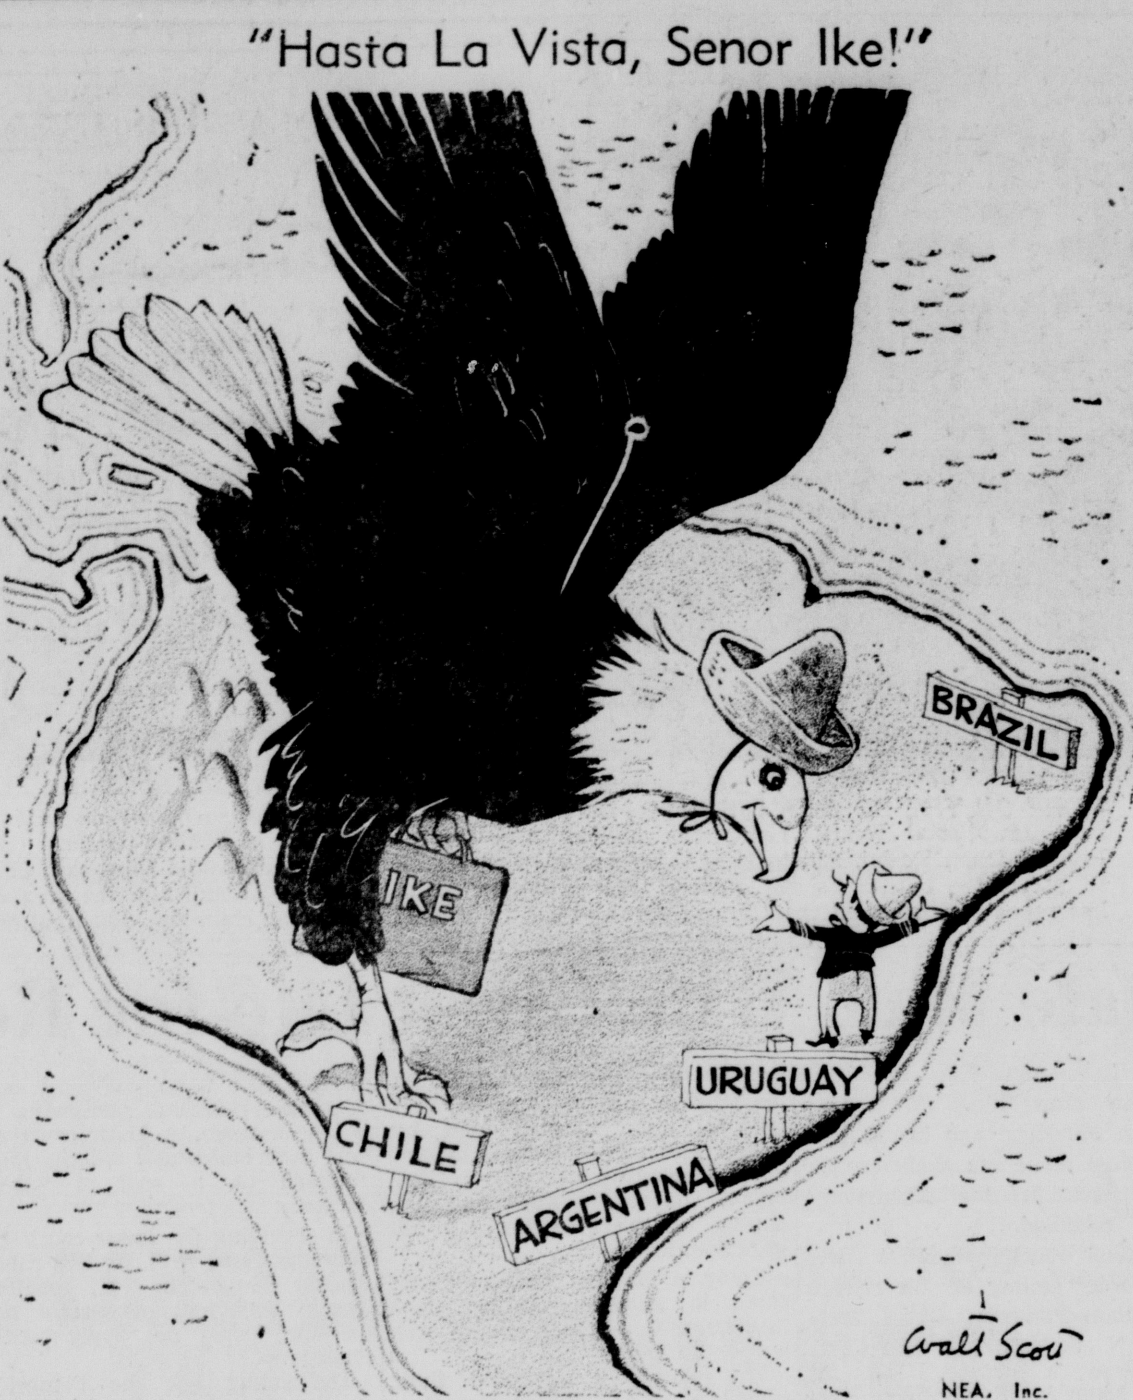

"Some fine day," I tell her, "your obsession for cleanliness is going to wreck our home. You're going to wash, iron, dust, polish and vacuum until there's nothing left."

Of course, you know her answer. "If I didn't have this cleanliness complex or obsession or whatever you call it," she says, "you'd have twice as many repair bills."

Observe that, in each of these instances, the quirk is harmless because it's been satisfactorily explained, and the explanation has been accepted and respected by the original complainant. Observe, too, that in each instance, the oddity has positive value in the life of its possessor.

Or, finally, if the quirk is merely a surface manifestation of some deep-seated mental disturbance as in the recent case of the Indiana school principal who murdered two members of his staff and then killed himself.

I shall try to explain the differences between these simple oddities, the true neuroses and the bombshell psychoses in later pieces.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Another big issue before this Congress is what you might call the jelly bean bill, or lipstick law.

The questions: whether such things as charcoal or carbon black are safe to use in jelly beans, and whether other coal tar coloring agents should be used in lipstick.

One legislative angle is whether there shall be a "Delaney amendment" in a new section of the Food Additives Law of 1958, to cover the use of chemical agents in foods, drugs and cosmetics. But if that's too big a mouthful to swallow, take it a bite at a time.

Rep. James J. Delaney is a 49-year old Democratic lawyer from Long Island City, N. Y., now serving his 14th year in Congress. In 1951-52 he was chairman of a special commerce subcommittee investigating the use of unsafe chemicals in foods. It was quite an education. The next year Delaney attended an international cancer convention in Rome. Twenty countries were represented, including the United States and Soviet Russia.

SCIENTISTS AND DOCTORS at this convention recommended that one great hope for reducing the causes of cancer was immediate passage of legislation banning the use of cancer-producing substances — carcinogens — in food.

The year following Delaney succeeded in having an anticarcinogen clause in the pesticide control act of 1954. It prohibited the use of agricultural chemicals which left residuals in foods causing cancer when ingested by animal or man.

When the food additives law of 1958 was passed, Delaney—now moved up to the rules committee—saw to it that the carcinogen clause was included.

This is now known as the Delaney amendment. It was invoked when cranberries and still-broiled caponettes were order off the markets last year.

Food and Drug Administration was at first opposed to the Delaney amendment language as unnecessary. The law said food products must be "without hazard to man," and that would cover cancer-producing substances.

BUT CANCER IS TODAY the number two killer in the United States, second only to heart disease. Cancer takes 250,000 lives a year. There are 450,000 new cancer cases reported annually and there are now 700,000 cases under treatment. Consequently, anything that can be done to reduce the cause of cancer is considered good preventive medicine.

In spite of this, opposition to the Delaney amendment is terrific. Mail to Washington from food growers and livestock raisers is piling up. Pressure from chemical, drug and food processors and manufacturers grows. Representatives of 11 farm organizations called at the White House to protest.

Opposition is mounting as a March 6 deadline approaches — 18 months after passage of the food additives law. By this date, chemical companies must prove the harmlessness of their products not already approved for use.

THE PRESSURE HAS ALSO risen against the jelly beans and lipstick bill to ban the use of unsafe coloring agents in foods, drugs and cosmetics. Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming, in whose department food and drug administration operates, has now endorsed inclusion of a Delaney clause in the coloring agent amendment.

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) Chairman of House Interstate Commerce Committee which has been holding the hearings on coloring agents, has announced that the alternative to no Delaney clause will be no legislation at all.

That will mean coloring agents will continue to be tested under the food additives amendment. Any found other than harmless will have to be banned.

The only escape from that will be a reversal of present policy by President Eisenhower after HEW, Agriculture and his special Science Advisory Committee investigate and give him a new report.

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A proposal to repeal the state's full crew law is being quietly shelved in the Legislature.

The lawmakers, who are up for re-election this year, reportedly feel they have enough controversy on their hands without adding a long-standing labor-management dispute over featherbedding.

Because of this feeling, no repeal bill has been introduced and any such legislation would die in committee, a GOP leader declared.

Adopted in 1907, the full crew law, adopted in 1907, specifies the number of men railroads must assign to trains.

The railroad industry says it is a prime cause of featherbedding—use of more men on a job than actually needed. Railroad unions, supported by the state AFL-CIO, hold the law is still needed to assure safe operation of trains.

The 1959 Legislature directed the Public Service Commission to study the full crew law and recommend modifications.

This was done as part of a Rockefeller administration plan to help railroads maintain proper service in the face of dwindling passenger business and rising costs.

Supreme Court Ruling Held Help in Labor Bargaining

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court of the United States has tossed out the window as unworkable the abstract phrasing of existing Federal law which says that both employers and unions must bargain collectively "in good faith."

The court said, in effect, that the absence of good faith is too difficult to prove. Three justices—Frankfurter, Harlan and Whitaker—disagreed. They contended that each case should turn on the evidence submitted, and they urged that the latest case should have gone back to the National Labor Relations Board for rehearing. So, while the justices are unanimous in rejecting the board's conclusion in this instance, there is a significant division as to what may or may not be done generally under the law to exert "economic pressure" while collective bargaining is going on.

In the case just decided, the contract between an insurance agents' union and their employer had already expired. Also the employees had customarily received no salaries, but only commissions. They chose, however, to carry on what might be called a "slow down." They ceased for a time to solicit new business and, after resuming such work, didn't comply with the company's reporting procedures. In a sense they violated their understanding with the employer, who gave them exclusive rights to solicit business in certain areas on condition that they would perform certain duties each day.

But the language of the majority of the court is so broad that it looks as if it would cover even instances where regular wages are paid and the workers carry on a "slow down" during a contract period, up to now the employers of the country, while charging "bad faith" when such events happened during a collective-bargaining negotiation, rarely undertook any disciplinary action in reprisal, such as firing the employees involved.

What the latest Supreme Court ruling may do is to encourage employers to dismiss employees who don't do a full day's work for specified amounts of pay. If employers had done this before, the unions surely would have filed with the National Labor Relations Board charges of lack of "good faith" during collective bargaining. Now it would appear that the way is open either for dismissals or for suits to be brought against unions which carry on "harassing" activities. Indeed, there might be legal redress even when work is continued in periods when contracts have already expired, provided damage to a business can be proved.

The significant thing is that the majority of the court evidently feels that the "good faith" is hard to rule upon because it is a vague phrase from which inferences are drawn that are speculative, and because evidence is difficult to relate to "good faith" or "bad faith."

Referring to a previous decision, the Supreme Court's majority opinion says the employer in that case "could have discharged disciplinary action against the employees participating in these 'slow-down,' 'sit-in' and arguably unprotected disloyal tactics." It, however, adds:

"But surely that a union activity is not protected against disciplinary action does not mean that it constitutes a refusal to bargain in good faith. The reason why the ordinary economic strike is not evidence of a failure to bargain in good faith is not that it constitutes a protected activity, but that, as we have developed, here is simply no inconsistency between the application of economic pressure and good-faith collective bargaining."

The minority of the court—Justices Frankfurter, Whitaker and Harlan—thinks the majority went too far and that each case should be decided on the evidence. The minority justices declare that the instant case "should be remanded to the board for further opportunity to introduce pertinent evidence, if any there be, of respondent's (union's) lack of good faith."

Equal Rights Provision
Where does all this leave employer-employee relation? The majority justices say:

"Our labor policy is not presently erected on a foundation of government control of the results of negotiations. Nor does it contain a charter for the National Labor Relations Board to act at large in equalizing disparities of bargaining power between employer and union."

This plainly emphasizes that employers and unions are on an equal basis. Hereafter an employer may dismiss any employee who engages in a "slowdown" or fails otherwise to do his job and the union cannot rely on the National Labor Relations Board to be sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States by merely charging a failure to bargain in "good faith."

To the extent that labor and management are given equal rights before the law—which hasn't been true in recent years—the latest decision could be salutary.

(Reproduction rights reserved.)

with heavy pressures from the outside.

Already bogged down in quarrels over fallout shelters, school aid, highway-safety laws and welfare rules, the Legislature has little time—or heart—for a major battle with both labor and management.

Beyond the actual statistics of the full crew controversy is the view that the law is symbolic of a continuing fight between labor unions seeking to hold and improve gains and railroads who say it is outmoded and a bar to progress.

A legislative decision would be seized upon by whichever side it favored as an important psychological weapon in this dispute.

Symbiosis? Psychology? No thanks, say lawmakers struggling with demands for more spending and lower taxes, with defense against nuclear warfare and, of course, with re-election.

Some Mothers-in-Law Should Read This Column

"Why is it so hard for a mother-in-law to mentally put herself in her daughter-in-law's shoes, or even to remember what her own life was like when she had small children and there always seemed to be a mountain of work ahead of her?" asks one of my readers.

"My mother-in-law wouldn't think of saying, 'Honey you look worn out. Why don't you get Bob to take you out to dinner tonight? I'll fix supper for the kids and look after them.' 'Yet there must have been times in her own young married life when she felt as beat as I sometimes do, and when she was as desperate as I sometimes am to get away from it all for a care-free evening."

"Another thing she would never think of doing is to give me the morale-building boost of a nice compliment, especially one paid to me in my husband's presence. Doesn't she realize how much such a compliment would mean, coming from my husband's mother?"

"Instead she brags about how efficiently she runs her own home—when she hasn't a soul to do for but herself."

NLRB Subpoenas Bethlehem Data

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board has ordered the Bethlehem Steel Co. to produce all its financial records of contracts for U. S. Navy and private shipbuilding construction from the end of World War II to the present.

A subpoena was issued Wednesday by the board in connection with a hearing into a labor dispute between the company and its shipyard workers. It is for records to determine how much of this construction work was won on a competitive bid basis and how much was awarded without competition.

Seventeen thousand members of the International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America are on strike against the company in eight Atlantic coast shipyards.

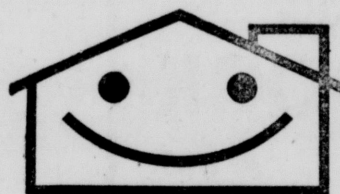

Bargaining sessions have been suspended while the NLRB hears union charges that the company acted in bad faith at the bargaining table. The case is being heard by examiner Thomas A. Ricci in the regional offices of the board.

The company, in negotiating sessions with the union, has maintained that its proposed contract changes are necessary in order to maintain a competitive status with rival shipyards.

The union contends that all naval ship construction contracts—totaling over 500 million dollars—were allocated to the yards by the Navy Department rather than awarded on a competitive bid basis. The union also states that very few private ship construction contracts were on a bid basis.

Assembly Delays Bidding Bill; Afraid of Graft

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The Assembly, by a 74-62 vote, has halted a Senate-approved bill that would allow state and local governments to award public works contracts of up to $5,000 without public bidding.

Opponents of the bill said it would create greater opportunities for graft. The present limit for contracts without bidding is $2,500. The measure's supporters maintained it would eliminate the cost of drafting and advertising small contracts.

After Wednesday's vote, which crossed party lines, the Assembly agreed to reconsider the measure next week.

Sen. Harold A. Jerry Jr. (R-Elmira), Senate sponsor of the bill, said it was directed at "avoiding the expense of newspaper advertising."

Republican Assemblyman Charles D. Henderson of Hornell, Assembly sponsor of the measure, said contractors often did not bother to bid on contracts as low as $2,500.

The measure is backed by the Association of Towns, the Mayors Conference and the County Officers Assn., he said.

Andre Takes Job As Hair Stylist

NEW YORK (AP)—Andre Porumbeanu, married former ex-chauveur who fled to Paris last December with heiress Gamble Benedict, has taken a job in Brooklyn as a hair stylist.

His new boss, known as "Marvin" of Marvin Hairstylists Inc., said Wednesday:

"He (Porumbeanu) seems perfect for the business and he feels he can add something to the American women."

"He is adding an air of elegance to our business."

The 35-year-old, Romanian-born Porumbeanu wears his own hair in a wavy pompadour.

Gamble was brought home from Paris last month and subsequently was placed in the custody of her grandmother. The 19-year-old girl still faces charges of being a wayward minor.

Central Is Given $86 Million in Refund on Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Good things happen to taxpayers, sometimes. Take the case of the New York Central Railroad.

The Internal Revenue Service concluded some time back that the railroad had overpaid its 1941-44 taxes by more than $8½ million dollars. As a result, the New York Central got refunds, credits and interest payments totaling more than $86 million dollars.

This whopping transaction came to light today in a list of big refunds approved in 1958 by the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation. The committee has to approve all refunds of more than $100,000.

The New York Central item was the biggest on the list. IRS said it could not discuss details of the case because of legal prohibitions against disclosing the affairs of taxpayers.

Many of the listed refunds stemmed from tax court cases. IRS collected what it claimed was due from some taxpayers, then had to settle for less and refund the difference.

In other cases, taxpayers were able to convince the agency that they had paid more than was due.

While corporations accounted for most of the 280 big refunds in the tabulation for the 12 months which ended June 30, 1958, some went to individuals.

New York gambler Frank Erickson and his wife, for instance, got credits, refunds and interest payments totaling $2,230,775. This resulted from settlement of a tax court case. The settlement was disclosed at the time.

6 New Members Jaycees Accept

Six new members were inducted into the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce at the February meeting Wednesday in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Reports were read on last week's state meeting at Niagara Falls and an award was made.

The six new members are Richard Drake and Ward Ingalsbe, attorneys, Robert Murray and Ronald Avery, both of the State of New York National Bank; Andrew Hickey of Dedrick's Drug Store and James Bishop of International Business Machines Corporation.

Fred Moore was given the Jaycee of the month award for his efforts in promoting National Jaycee Week.

Reports of the state meeting were given by Robert Stedje and Ernest Rowe, who noted that it took 15 hours to go to and from Niagara Falls because of the snowstorm.

The polka is a lively dance of Bohemian origin which has a third eighth note (second beat) accented. In the U.S. it is described as "a hopping dance."

POLICE HUNTING A GUNMAN—Two police officers, rifle at the ready, stand at side of truck as they stalk a berserk gunman holed up in his home east of Uniontown, Pa. The gunman, identified as Dan Raymond, turned on two

Dutchess Police Continue Hunt in Burglary Cases

Dutchess County authorities today continued to track down clues which they hoped might lead to a solution of a series of burglaries committed in the City and Town of Poughkeepsie early Tuesday.

Police Lieutenant George Traver told The Freeman shortly before noon no arrests had been made. He said several men had been questioned by detectives under the direction of Sergeant James Murphy, but all were released after they accounted for their whereabouts during the time the burglaries occurred.

Police Chief John L. Martin said detectives and all members of the police department had not relaxed their investigation of the burglaries since they were discovered. The chief said a patrolman, not identified, had made a check of one of the establishments entered by the burglar and found nothing disturbed.

THE OLYMPICS—Global attention is fixed on remote Squaw Valley, Calif., where the 1960 Winter Olympics are in progress. The world's finest amateur athletes in winter sports are competing there in the ultimate in international events. Squaw Valley is 45 miles from Reno, Nev., 240 from San Francisco and 600 from Los Angeles.

Later it was discovered the store had been entered. The elusive burglar netted about $300 in cash during his burglary escapade.

Red China Going All-Out in Move To Discredit Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China is firing its heaviest propaganda guns at President Eisenhower in an all-out effort to discredit his present Latin American tour.

The violence of the outburst has startled even some U. S. officials, long accustomed to a steady drumfire from Peking on any and all American policies.

Samples from recently intercepted Peking broadcasts now reaching a crescendo in the hate-America campaign run like this: "U. S. President Eisenhower is forced to make a personal trip (to Latin America) to carry out conniving and deceptive activities. Latin America, which the United States has always considered its backyard, has become the very front lines opposing U. S. imperialism."

U. S. officials see three major aims by Peking in its Latin American offensive:

1. To disrupt the solidarity of the Western Hemisphere by every possible means.
2. To break the solid Latin American line-up in the United Nations and gain support among these largely Roman Catholic countries for admission of Peking to the U. N.
3. To build up Latin American differences with the United States and thereby increase Peking's chances for diplomatic recognition among the hemisphere nations.

Advice From Audience

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The scene was tense Shakespeare.

As Othello throttled Desdemona someone in the audience shouted, "Don't do it, buddy, they'll send you to jail!"

"You just don't know what to expect," said Dr. Lewin Goff in retrospect. His University of Kansas players had presented scenes from "Othello," "Brigadoon" and "Teahouse of the August Moon" to an audience of 900 inmates at Leavenworth Federal Prison.

Browning Reported 'Good'

Bob Browning, local radio newscaster, who underwent minor surgery early this week, was reported to be in "good" condition today at Kingston Hospital. He is expected to be back on the job in about a week, it is reported.

4 Kingston Men Named to Serve At UJA Meeting

Joseph E. Honig, Arthur P. Motzkin, Herman G. Rafalowsky and Abraham Streifer of Kingston have been chosen to serve on the Sponsors Committee of the United Jewish Appeal Interstate Regional leadership conference to be held at Albany Sunday, March 6, it has been announced by Samuel E. Aronowitz, of Albany, conference chairman.

The conference will be held in Albany's DeWitt Clinton Hotel, beginning with a morning session at 10:30 a. m. It will be attended by some 300 United Jewish Appeal leaders of 25 communities in New York State and Eastern Massachusetts. It will take up vital questions of leadership on behalf of the 1960 United Jewish Appeal campaigns in their home communities.

All Past Chairmen

The four Kingston sponsors have served in the past as chairmen of the local Welfare Fund Campaign.

Immediately following the conference, participants will return to their home communities in order to mobilize maximum support for their local UJA campaigns on behalf of migration, resettlement and welfare aid to immigrants to Israel, the United States and to Jewish men, women and children in need of aid in 24 other countries.

Includes Special Fund

Aronowitz, who is a member of the UJA National Campaign Committee and of its National Cash Committee, said that this year's UJA drive consists of a Regular Campaign and a campaign for a Special Fund designed to cope with "unmet immigrant needs." The Special Fund is intended to speed absorption of some 345,000 immigrants of recent years to Israel who have not yet been fully integrated into the country's life and economy.

"In this pivotal year, free of mass energy crisis," Aronowitz declared, "we of the UJA must consolidate the accomplishment of the past 11½ years, during which we have brought almost a million immigrants to Israel. One out of every three of them today still lacks the home, the job, the equipment, the training or the social and welfare service he needs for full settlement in this new homeland."

Task Is Enormous

Pointing out that the Jewish Agency, philanthropic body responsible for resettling immigrants in Israel, receives most of its funds from the United Israel Appeal, Aronowitz went on to say: "The task of the Agency is enormous. There are 60,000 men, women and children in Israel still living in makeshift tin huts and shacks in supposedly 'temporary' shanty towns — some of them for as much as seven years; thousands of others are in deteriorated urban housing.

"On farmsteads established by the Agency, 130,000 pioneer settlers still lack the machinery and tools, the draught animals and livestock, the water and electricity the need to become self-sustaining. Thousands are still under-employed, and special institutional and extra-mural care required by aged, ill and handicapped newcomers must be expanded.

"Outside Israel," Aronowitz continued, "vital welfare aid, infant care, medical and clinical services, and educational and vocational training facilities

TANK LEADS ADVANCE ON KILLER — At Chalkhill, Pa., police move up behind a National Guard tank toward the home of Daniel Raymond, who killed a man and three women and wounded five others—three of them children. Raymond held off more than 50 police and townsfolk vigilantes for more than nine hours before trying to escape by jumping out a window. He managed to reach his car before he was cut down by police bullets. (NEA Telephoto)

SNOW MATTER—Frolicking in a snowbank, airline hostesses Carolyn Peterson, left, and Suzanne Rey don't mind at all the frigid weather in Chicago. And well they mightn't, for the TWA girls were just about to take off on a flight to Phoenix and some time off under the warm Arizona sun.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Savers are still in the saddle and the U. S. Treasury is coming off second best in its competition with other forms of investment for their business.

Few think that interest rates are likely to drop significantly or that easy money is likely to replace tight for some time. So the rivalry is still unabated.

No Move on Rates

To halt the increase in redemptions of Series E and G Savings Bonds and the drop in their sales, a House committee is proposing to eliminate the legal limit on the amount of interest the Treasury can pay to holders.

But the President already has power to raise interest rates now being paid. Yet the Treasury has made no move to do so. Instead it is planning a drive to get employers to step up promotion of payroll savings plans in their plants.

The argument is that, higher interest rates elsewhere or no, the Savings Bond is still the safest risk in the nation, especially for the little investor.

The Treasury has power to lift these rates now because last year Congress raised the rate limit to 4½ from its former 3½ per cent. The Treasury then set the present 3½ per cent rate, hoping that would halt redemptions and increase sales.

But last month sales trailed the year-ago figure again, while redemptions topped it.

Lure Too Tempting

The lure to savers from other sources is just too tempting. Mutual savings banks and many commercial banks have lifted the rates they pay depositors. Savings and loan associations have lifted their payments by varying degrees across the country. Some on the West Coast go as high as 4½ per cent.

Many bonds yield five per cent or more and the Treasury itself went after the individual saver with a highly successful five per cent offer.

Yields have gone so high because money has been kept tight to discourage a new outburst of inflation, and credit often has been hard to come by.

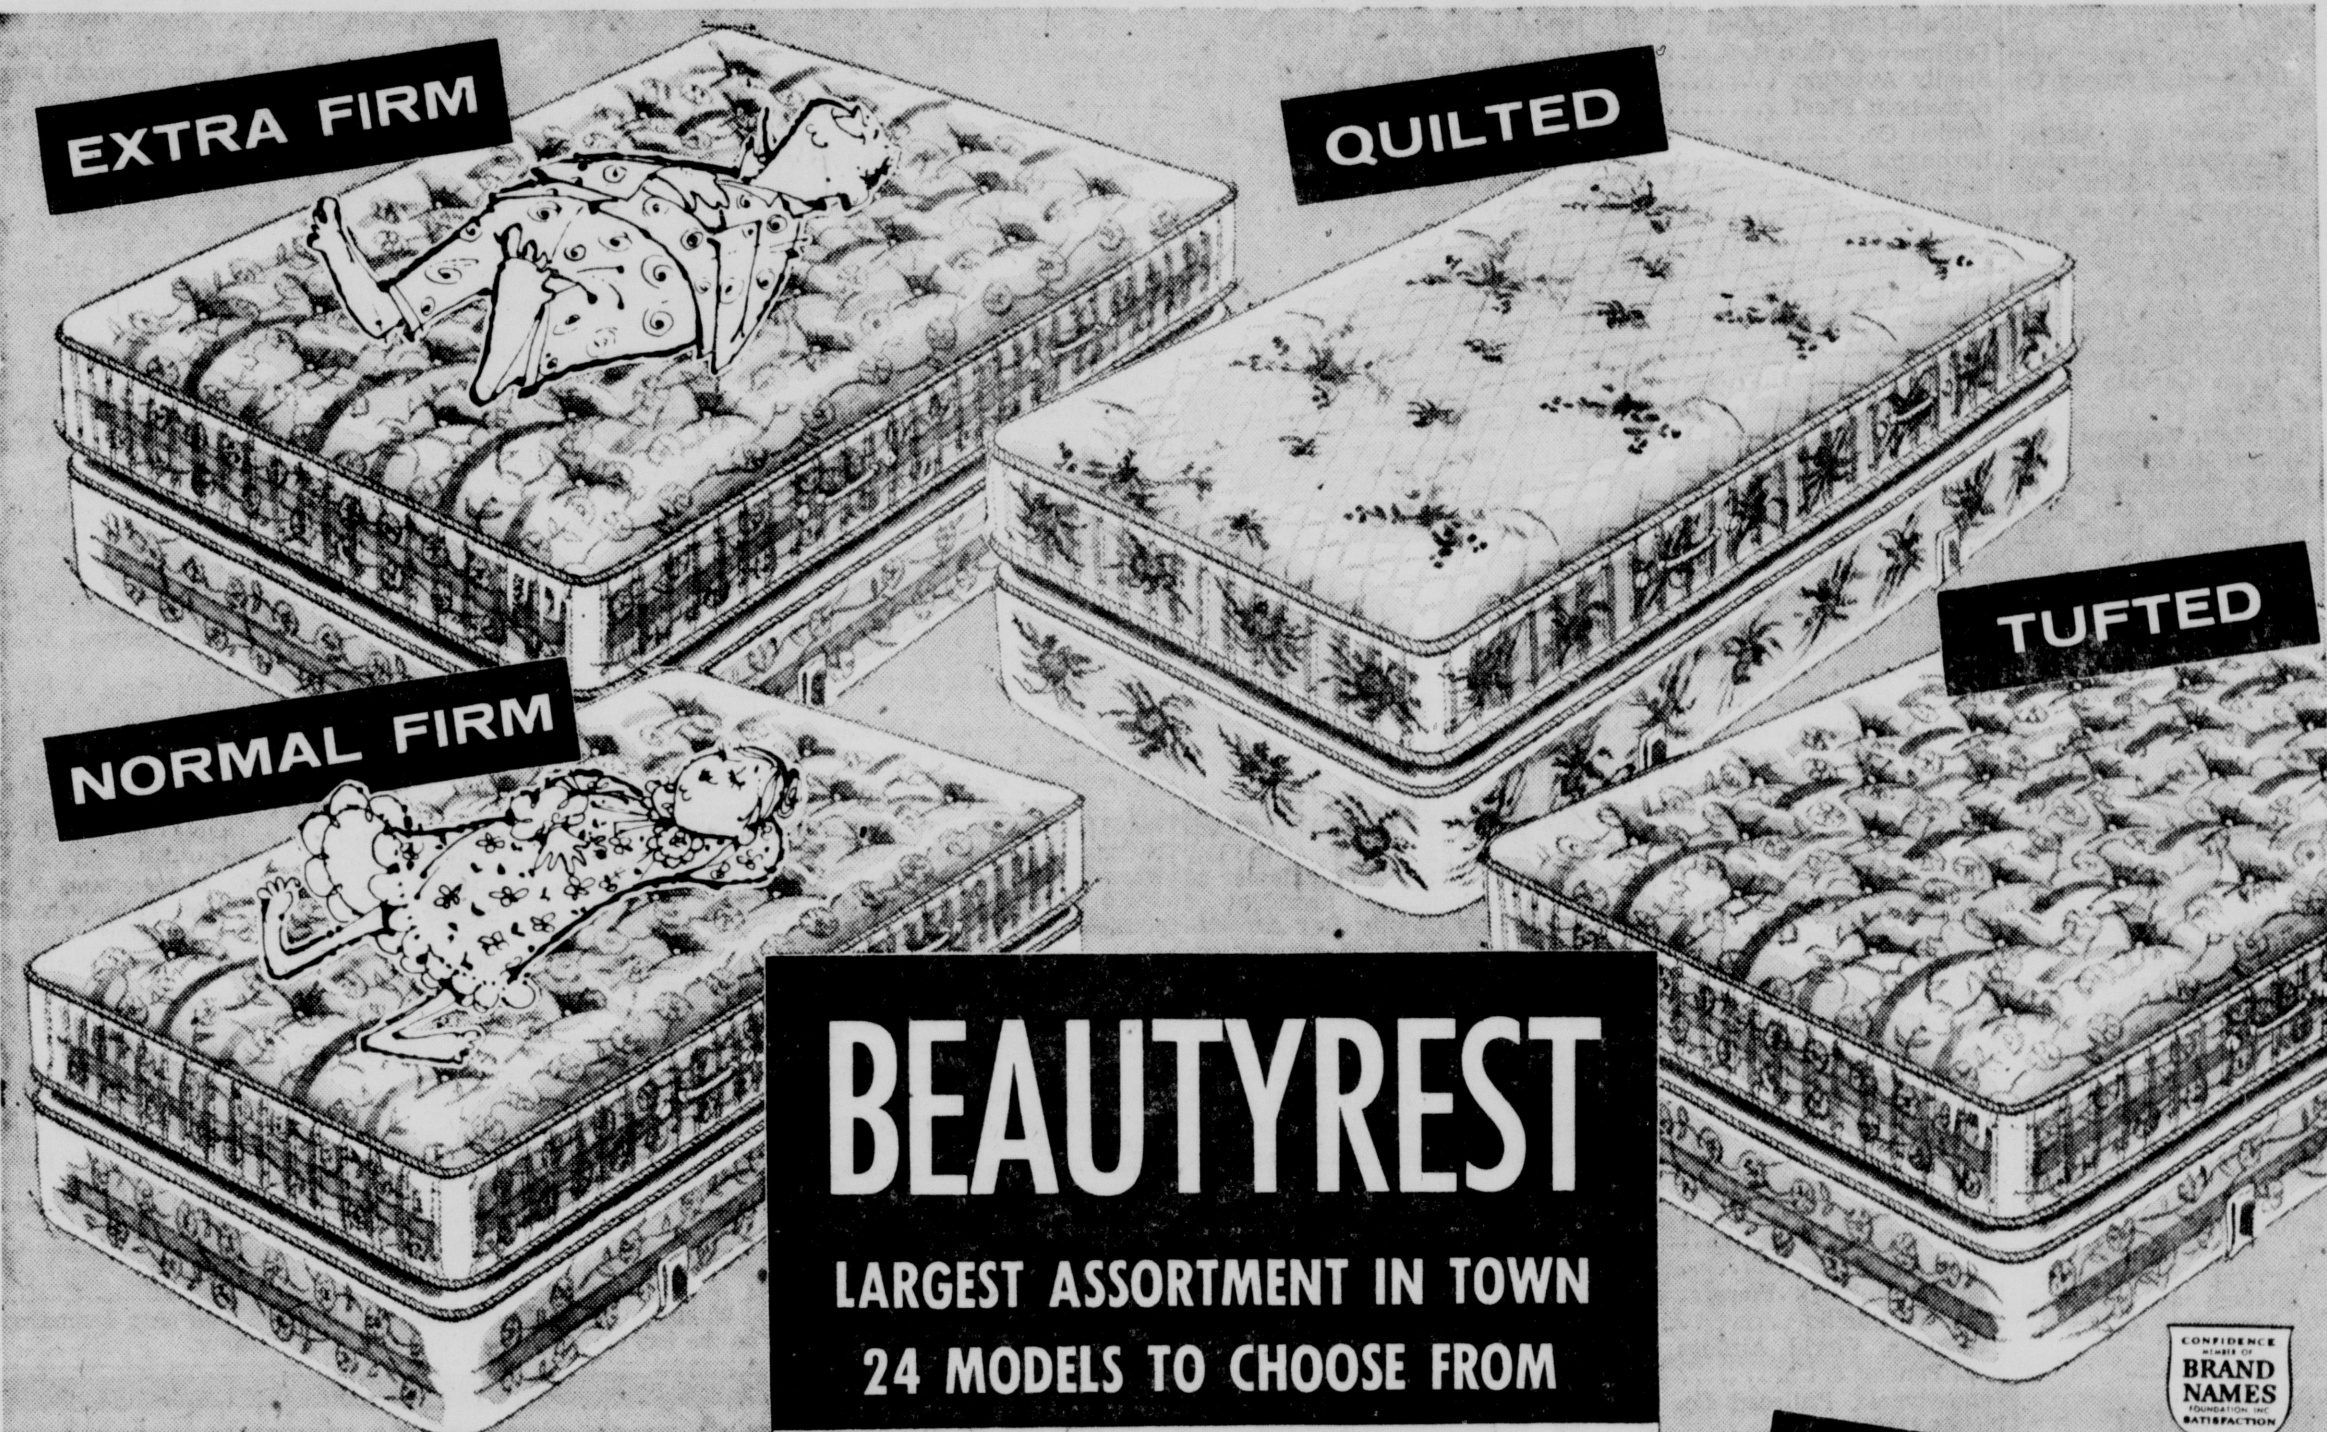

The money market eased in the first weeks of the year, as it usually does. But there has been some stiffening of interest rates in recent days. Demand for business loans finally has begun to rise again. That helps keep money tight.

Fears of further inflation have been considerably allayed. But few expect the money managers to loosen the credit strings much unless another recession begins taking shape.

The West Coast's offering of highest interest rates doubtless reflects the need for funds in fast-growing communities. And that is where you'll find the largest savings and loan associations, with their close ties to the home-mortgage market.

Nocturnal Visit

Says Girl in Cabin Day of Her Death

BOSTON (AP) — Willem van Rie, Dutch ship radio operator, testified today that Lynn Kauffman was in his cabin for a three-hour period on the day he is alleged to have killed her.

This was brought out under cross-examination by Asst. Dist. Atty. John F. McAuliffe.

From 1 to 4 a. m. The 31-year-old murder trial defendant said the girl was in his cabin from 1 a. m. to 4 a. m. Sept. 18.

The state charges Van Rie beat Miss Kauffman and tossed her overboard from the Netherlands freighter Utrecht as it proceeded down Boston Harbor the night of Sept. 18.

It alleges the Dutch wirelessman had a quarrel with her in her cabin.

The prosecutor prodded Van Rie for not mentioning the nocturnal visit in his direct testimony Wednesday.

McAuliffe opened his questioning by pointing out that in Van Rie's direct testimony he mentioned the girl only as Mrs. Kauffman.

Found on Island Several witnesses have referred to the 23-year-old divorcee as Mrs. Kauffman. She was divorced when she was 21. Her maiden name is Lynn Kauffman.

Van Rie conceded he had addressed her as Lynn.

Miss Kauffman vanished from the Utrecht sometime after 7 p. m. Sept. 18. Her body was found the next day on a harbor island.

Van Rie spent six hours—virtually the entire court day—Wednesday supporting his claim of innocence.

Much of his testimony was aimed at showing his shipboard duties occupied his time during the period Miss Kauffman went to her death.

Emotional Testimony A half hour of the testimony was a volatile and sometimes emotional description of a brain washing he claimed he received in a Brooklyn, N.Y., police station, where he was arrested on a murder complaint.

He said relays of officers verbally "pounded, pounded, pounded" throughout the night of Sept. 20-21 until in desperation he gave a false statement.

In this he is represented as saying he went to Lynn's cabin as the Utrecht slid out of Boston harbor and they quarreled over her possible pregnancy. (An autopsy showed she was not pregnant.)

The statement represented Van Rie as saying he hit the girl unemotionally.

This happened, the statement said, when Lynn came at him in anger after he laughed when she inquired what he would do if she were pregnant.

Van Rie insisted he told the police the statement was false and that he made it only in the hope of getting back to the Utrecht to obtain proof he could not have been involved in her death.

State May Probe Some Functions Of Buffalo Dept.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The State Investigation Commission may be undertaking a detailed probe of certain functions of the Buffalo Police Dept., it was reported today.

The commission already has moved to inspect departmental records, according to the report. One source, who noted by the Buffalo Evening News as saying that the commission is checking reports of vice, liquor and gambling investigation units, as well as assignment of police manpower.

Buffalo Police Commissioner Frank N. Felicetta was among several witnesses who testified here Tuesday at a closed hearing of the commission. He declined to discuss the session, but said "they were very nice to me."

Commission Chairman Goodman A. Sarachan of Rochester, asked to comment on today's report, said:

"We are in the process of making certain investigations in Buffalo, as we are in other cities, or we wouldn't be holding private hearings. But certainly I couldn't say anything more about it at this time."

More than a third of the 140 arrests in the raids were made in Buffalo. Buffalo police did not know when the raids by State Police and commission agents were to take place until they were under way.

Felicetta said at the time that his department had cooperated in the investigation leading to the raids. A commission spokesman said the only reason local police were not given the exact time of the raids in advance was that the commission wished to take every precaution against information leaks.

On the Party Line

FREEHOLD, N. J. (AP) — The police of the 53 municipalities of Monmouth County have decided to work together with as little red tape as possible. They have organized a county-wide police radio network so that police in one town know what is going on in every other town in the county.

Charles W. Hummel, CHIROPRACTOR, 81 Elmendorf St., Kingston. By Appointment Tel. FE 8-4371

500,000 Welcome

the mighty achievement of this fabulous community."

His schedule included the placing of a wreath on a memorial to Brazilians who died as soldiers in his European command in World War II. Eisenhower termed this a "very special and, to me, deeply moving mission to perform in your city."

Gov. Carlos Alberto Carvalho Pinto of Sao Paulo State, Brazil's most populous and richest state, and the city's mayor, Adhemar de Barros, welcomed Eisenhower and his party at Congonhas Airport.

Students Add Cheers

After military honors, Eisenhower and the governor entered an open car and moved off slowly behind a motorcycle escort for a parade through the city's streets to the governor's official residence, Campos Eliseos—Elysian Fields. Even in the vicinity of the airport spectators lined the curbs.

Fifteen minutes later, a drizzle started in the center of the city, and the sparse crowd raised umbrellas.

Around the plaza, thousands of grammar and high school children lined the route. Many of them wore school uniforms. Spectators waved flags of the United States and Brazil.

Blue-uniformed city police lined the big square, spotted at intervals about 10 feet apart.

Just before the President's car arrived, a band struck up "God Bless America."

The President's big jetliner was left in Rio, and the trusty old Columbine III was brought out for the 220-mile flight from Rio to Sao Paulo. The local Congonhas Airport is built into the side of a hill and cannot handle airliner-size jets.

A fast, over-all view of the city was arranged for Eisenhower.

The route of his motorcade from the airport lay through the picturesque residential district — the Jardim Paulista.

Also on the President's program was a luncheon with local industrial and agricultural leaders, at which Eisenhower was to make a short speech, and a wreath-laying at a memorial to Brazilian troops who fought in Italy in World War II, when Eisenhower was supreme allied commander.

Another undisturbed conference was arranged by Eisenhower and President Juscelino Kubitschek for the hour's trip back to Rio. But the two Presidents were expected to deal with world problems and hemispheric affairs in a general way only, leaving the details of U.S.-Brazilian matters to Secretary of State Christian Herter and Foreign Minister Horacio Luper. They remained in Rio to confer.

He Doing Well Eisenhower was reported standing up well under the heat and humid weather he has encountered since he began his Latin American visit in Porto Rico Monday. He was beamingly pleased at the giant welcome Rio gave him on his arrival there Wednesday.

And he told the Brazilian Congress that the United States is determined to see that the Latin American nations have "the right to choose their own future."

In an obvious warning to international communism, the President declared:

"We would consider it intervention in the internal affairs of an American state if any power, whether by invasion, coercion or subversion, succeeded in denying freedom of choice to the people of any of our sister republics."

Police Hunt Cabbie

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives made a house-to-house search today seeking to identify the hit-run taxicab driver who killed a 4-year-old girl and hid her body under a parked car where it looked like a rag doll to passers-by.

Two hours later—a half mile away in Washington Heights—a number of strollers noticed what they thought was a rag doll under a parked car. One of them reached under the car and discovered the "doll" was the body of a little girl, identified later as Robin Joyner.

Brady Sr., 51, of Wawarsing on Route 22 south of Millerton.

Mrs. Brady, 49, and her granddaughter, 11-month-old Carol Ann Brady of Kerhonkson, were fatally injured in the collision.

Ike Gets Gifts

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek and his wife presented rich gifts Wednesday night to President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

They gave the visiting President a 17th century silver candelabra. Eisenhower said it was of such value he would donate it to a museum.

Mrs. Sara Kubitschek handed the President a gold pendant set with a Brazilian aquamarine an inch wide and three inches long for Mamie Eisenhower. The U. S. President smilingly said he would telephone his wife to tell her about it.

Weekly Food Review

Pork takes over the featured spot on many meat counters this week, with frozen pork stocks 40 per cent greater than a year ago.

Pork loins head the list of week-end specials. In New York they are down as much as 16 cents a pound from a week ago and in Washington they are down 10 cents.

Other featured pork includes shoulders, smoked shank and slice bacon.

Beef round roast and frying chickens also are among the specials. Prices of fryers are generally down.

Leg of lamb prices are up somewhat. Butter and egg prices fluctuated.

Along the Eastern seaboard fish is featured in variety, including swordfish steaks, lobster tails, smelts, halibut steaks and scallops.

Best buys among vegetables covered a wide field — cabbage, carrots, endive, escarole, lettuce, small and medium yellow onions, eastern potatoes, sweet potatoes and turnips.

In the good-buy classification are beets, broccoli, pascal celery, mushrooms, cooking greens, green peppers and avocados.

These items are expensive: Florida snap beans, corn, Chinese cabbage, eggplant and squash; California cauliflower, broccoli rabe from North and South Carolina, Western artichokes and asparagus, Cuban cucumbers and vine-ripened tomatoes from Florida, Cuba and the Bahamas.

Too bargains in fruit are Florida grapefruit and oranges, California oranges, Eastern apples and bananas.

Army Works for Campers

FT. LEE, Va. (AP) — When the Army goes camping it is no picnic. But the things it carries are a joy to civilian campers. Among new devices being tested at the Quartermaster School here are a one-pound stove for quick cooking of dehydrated foods, a slim metal cylinder to heat a five-gallon can of water on the principal of a slow-down lantern with a doughnut-shaped fuel tank above the light so as to deflect light.

25 Master Masons Entertained by OES

ELLENVILLE—At the recent meeting of the Wawarsing Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star of Ellenville, more than 25 visiting Master Masons were entertained as honored guests in the Chapter Rooms of the Masonic Lodge on Canal Street.

The highlight of the evening was the conferring of a complimentary honor degree on the Master Masons by the officers of the Eastern Star under the leadership of the Associate Matron, Clara Eck and the supervision of the Worthy Matron, Doris G. Lund. Clarence R. Dawson, master of Wawarsing Lodge, F & AM, along with a corps of his fellow officers were escorted to the East immediately preceding the conferring of this honorary degree, spelled out in a colorful drill on the floor, as "MASTER MASONS."

Following the degree, the audience of Stars, Masons, and visitors numbering over 75 were entertained by the rendition of several popular organ numbers by Mrs. Milford Misner of Wawarsing. Mrs. Edna Budd of Phillipsport followed with the rendition of two readings, entitled "Australian Bushman" and "Kentucky School Marm."

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served downstairs in the banquet hall where the balance of the evening was spent in Social Hour Chit Chat.

Oldtimers Night Observed at Lodge

At the recent meeting of the Wawarsing Lodge, F & AM held at their rooms at Canal Street, the annual observance of Old Timers Night was celebrated. Several 30 and 40 year members were present to be honored and one guest from Kingston Lodge, No. 10 F & AM, Berlin Wright of Kerhonkson, was applauded for his 50-year membership. All of them were officially greeted and honored by the Master of the Lodge, Clarence R. Dawson and Past Master, Frank R. Ray.

Refreshments were served after the communication. For the first time in local Masonic history, the Wawarsing Chapter 582 F & AM will be the official host to the Greene-Ulster annual Masonic communion breakfast at Ellenville on April 24. The religious services will be held at the Ellenville Methodist Church followed by breakfast at the Wayside Inn for reservations restricted to 250 on a reserved ticket basis.

At the next communication of the lodge on Wednesday evening, March 2nd, the Rank of First Degree will be conferred on a class of candidates followed by refreshments in the banquet hall.

Same Temperature

According to the authorities, temperature of the air is not higher in the sun than it is in the shade, but people think it is because the sun heats their clothing and skin.

Family Night Planned At Reformed Church

"Good fun for the whole family" will be the order of the night Saturday, Feb. 27 beginning at 6 p. m. at the Rosendale Reformed Church. A pot-luck supper to which those attending are asked to bring a dish of some type of food will usher in the evening's festivities. Parents are urged to bring their children as there will be events planned for them also. These will include parent and child games, games for preschool children and activities for both old and young adults. Members of the planning committee include Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Maines, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Doolittle, the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Grupe and Mr. and Mrs. Gene

(and enjoys it!)

1. Mr. McKeon doesn't like margarine. He insists on you-know-what. One day Mrs. McKeon served him Mrs. Filbert's Margarine—without telling him what it was, of course.

2. He tried some on a roll—and he liked it! It tasted cool and delicate sweet—a moment of sweet delight!

3. He complimented her on buying a better grade of you-know-what these days. Mrs. McKeon didn't say

4. anything, because you always let your husband think he's right even when he's wrong. Right?

5. The fact is though that Mrs. Filbert's is that good—cool and delicate sweet, a moment of sweet delight!

Camp Camelot Has Membership In Elite Group

Camp Camelot, the Woodstock day camp operated by Henry F. (Hank) and Jean Miller, has been accepted to membership in the American Camping Association, Miller announced this week.

Camp Camelot, a day camp for boys and girls 4 to 12 years of age, had its inaugural season last year. To be accepted in its first year, in the American Camping Association, is a rare and signal honor for any camp. Miller pointed out, adding that Camelot is the only day camp in the area to be accorded this recognition.

"Every first rate camp in the country is a member," he said. "ACA, the leading national camp association, inspects an applicant camp thoroughly, and Camp Camelot was approved in every one of the eight basic camping areas by which ACA sets standards: personnel, program, camp administration, health, sanitation, safety and transportation."

The day camp, built last spring on the Millers' property just off the Glasco Turnpike, boasts among its facilities a filtered swimming pool, large athletic field, archery ranges, riding horses, new kitchens and dining hall; modern, separate toilet facilities; and, especially built for the smaller tots, the unique Tinkertown, designed by the well known Woodstock artist, Richard Jeffery.

Many new improvements will be in evidence at the camp site this year, according to Miller, including several new buildings already completed and others in process to be ready for the coming season.

Registrations are now being accepted for the 1960 season, Miller stated. He added that rates will show a slight increase this year, but to stimulate early enrollment as an aid to planning, all enrollments received prior to March 31 will be accepted at the 1959 rates.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are both graduates of Syracuse University. Miller, who has had many years camp directing experience, teaches during the year at Saugerties Elementary School. Mrs. Miller has also taught school. They have three children: Susan 12, Robin 10 and Lawrence 8.

Nominate Slate For P-TA Office

Mrs. Rita Hancock has been nominated for president of the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association. She is at present first vice president of the P-TA and the room mother for the third grade.

Other designations by the nominating committee are: Mrs. Frances Garbido, first vice president; Jack Gibson, second vice president; Edgar C. Leaycraft, treasurer, and Mrs. Patricia Cocks, secretary.

The nominating committee which selected the slate included Frank F. Hancock, chairman; Alison Hansen and Anne Hefty. The elections will take place at the March meeting.

Junior Christian Endeavor meets at 6 p. m. Officers elected last Sunday evening were: Varieck Graver, president; Nancy Huty, vice president; Ellen Van Kleeck, secretary. The Senior C.E. meets at 7 p. m.

Meeting Dates

The Consistory will meet in stated session on Tuesday, March 1, at 8:45 p. m. All Consistory committees will meet at 7:30, just prior to the regular Consistory meeting. Reports will be heard from the church home committee, stewardship, church activities and spiritual administration committees.

The first in a series of six Protestant Union Services to be held on Wednesday evenings during Lent will be held Wednesday, March 2, at 8 p. m. in Christ Lutheran Church. The Rev. Wayne C. Olson of the Reformed Church will speak on the subject: "Jesus' Cross — Our Cross." All people in the Woodstock area are cordially invited to attend.

Christ's Journey Forms Sermon Basis For Rev. G. O. Sands

The Rev. G. Oliver Sands plans to preach on "A Passionate Pilgrimage"—Luke 18:21-43 on Quinquagesima Sunday, Feb. 28, at the 11 a. m. service in Christ Lutheran Church, Woodstock. Based on the story of Christ's journey to Jerusalem during which he healed a blind man, this sermon should help in preparing our hearts for the Lenten season which begins next Wednesday.

The Sunday school sessions will be held at 9:45 a. m. with classes for all age groups. Each family is asked to bring a child's toothbrush toward the Kiddie Kits we are packing for children overseas.

A special service is being planned for 4 p. m. with the Rev. David C. Gaise, DD, of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer in Kingston as the speaker. This will be the beginning of the stepped-up program to raise funds for a parish hall. All are welcome.

On Wednesday, March 2, the first Union Lenten service will be held in Christ Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Wayne C. Olson of the Woodstock Reformed Church as the speaker.

Lenten Schedule Set at St. Gregory's

On Thursday, March 10, the guest speaker will be the Rev. David Kern, rector of the Church of the Divine Love, Montrose. A study hour is planned on Wednesday, March 9 at 10 a. m. followed by coffee, for women of the church. The subject: "The Interpretation of Christian Literary Criticism."

Detailed announcement will be made later of the miracle play, "Every Man," to be presented by the St. Mark's Players of Mt. Kisco, at the church, Saturday, April 2, to which the whole community is cordially invited.

New Toll System For International Bridge Considered

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian Board of Transport Commissioners is considering a revised toll system for the international bridge across the St. Lawrence River between Cornwall, Ont. and Massena, N. Y.

The toll proposal, filed with the board, would take effect June 15. It would be coupled with an automatic toll collection system. Tokens with a face value of 50 cents would be sold for 35 cents in minimum quantities of 20. The tokens would represent a 35 per cent saving over cash fares. The one-way toll for passenger cars would remain at $1, but would be payable with two tokens. The present round-trip fare of $1.25 would be eliminated. The present 10-cent charge for pedestrians would be eliminated. Trucks and buses would pay tolls on a sliding scale of between $1 and $3, plus 50 cents for each axle in excess of two. Only one-way fares would be sold to trucks and buses.

The present tolls for trucks and buses range between $1.50 and $5 and carry free return-trip privileges within a week.

Last-Ditch Effort

Says Finch Could Be Guilty, Not Carole

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carole Tregoff's attorney has painted a hypothetical picture suggesting her surgeon lover could be guilty of murdering his wife but that Carole is innocent.

Some observers saw the lawyer's imaginary anecdote for the jury Wednesday—in which he did not mention Dr. R. Bernard Finch by name—as a last-ditch effort to save Carole even at the doctor's expense.

No Break in Ranks

But defense lawyers insisted there was no break in their ranks. The defense took over final arguments after a prosecutor declared the lovers hoped to solve their financial and romantic problems with "one shot in the back" of Mrs. Finch.

The 42-year-old society surgeon and his 23-year-old mistress are charged with murdering his wife, Barbara Jean, 36, outside the Finch estate in suburban West Covina last July 18.

Carole's counsel, Robert A. Neeb, who resumes his summation today, began by citing a hypothetical example that paralleled circumstances of the slaying:

"Supposing that I — somebody perhaps I knew — had a tenant in a store and he wanted me to take him there and I agree. "And supposing I furnish the automobile. Let us suppose I furnish the gasoline. Maybe I took him to dinner.

More Supposition

"Maybe I lent him some money, and I drove him to the scene of the place, and when I did, I knew that he was mad at his tenant, and they were having trouble. And he told me he was going to have it out with the tenant.

"And supposing he had a paper bag with him somewhere, in my car and he said, 'Now, here we are. Let's go in. I'm going to have trouble with this fellow.' And he says, 'Bring the paper bag in.' "And I bring it in, and he gets into an argument — he gets into an altercation, and maybe it turns out there is a weapon in the bag, and the tenant gets shot.

"Am I guilty of murder? No, I am not, because I didn't have a knowledgeable, intentional participation in the event which was unlawful.

"You have to answer this question in this case, as far as Carole Tregoff is concerned. "Unless you believe ... that when the car was moving from Las Vegas to West Covina ... Carole Tregoff had in her mind an intent to kill, she is entitled to an acquittal of the charge of murder in this case."

Finch and Miss Tregoff drove in her car from Las Vegas, Nev., to the Finch house the night of the slaying. They say they went there to discuss a divorce with Mrs. Finch. The doctor testified the gun discharged accidentally as he tried to throw it away after snatching it from his wife.

Carole testified she carried the doctor's attaché case, called a "murder kit" by the prosecution, from the car to the Finch house because it contained a flashlight the doctor wanted. Finch says the case, containing a carving knife, hypodermics, sleep-inducing drugs and other items, was one he was preparing for use on emergency calls.

WORLD GETS DRIFT OF FRENCH NUCLEAR TEST— Mapped, above, are initial courses and probable projections of how the world's winds will carry fallout particles from France's first experiment in nuclear detonation in the Sahara Desert. The nuclear device, rated as being in the 20-kiloton range, was barely powerful enough for monitoring worldwide by Atomic Energy Commission and the U.S. naval research organization. Of more immediate import: political repercussions as nervous nations protested admission of a new "member" to the select "atomic club" roster of United States, Britain and U.S.S.R.; and added material for hassling at Geneva over nuclear bans on a world-wide basis.

Girls, 14 Months, Perish in Blaze

PEASLEEVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Twin girls, 14 months old, perished early today in a fire in their trailer home in this hamlet 18 miles southwest of Plattsburgh.

Jerry Lee and Sherry Ann Leist, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Leist, died of smoke inhalation, hospital attaches said.

The father was at work, and the mother was visiting in a trailer next door, when the fire broke out in a couch at about 1 a. m., fire officials said.

Mrs. Leist discovered the fire. A neighbor, William Bushey, carried out the twins and took them to a Plattsburgh hospital after trying artificial respiration.

The fire caused little damage.

Brakeman Is Crushed

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—A New York Central Railroad brakeman was crushed to death today when caught between two box cars at the Syracuse regional market, police reported.

The victim was identified as Arthur Hill, 55, of Syracuse. A conductor, James Proper, said Hill had signaled the train engineer to back up and hook into the two cars. A switch apparently was set on the wrong track, Proper said, and the train reversed on a track parallel to the one holding the cars, catching Hill between.

Syracuse Banker Dies

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Albert B. Merrill, chairman of the board of the First Trust and Deposit Co. here, died today in a hospital at Phoenix, Ariz. He was 70.

Merrill, prominent in city affairs, had been a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital in Phoenix since he was felled by a heart attack Feb. 17.

He had been vacationing at Scottsdale, Ariz., with his wife, Rena, since Feb. 1.

Besides his banking post, Merrill also was chairman of the board of trustees of Syracuse University and a director of many business and civic organizations.

Maine Contest May Feature 2 Women

RUMFORD, Maine (AP)—A prospect of the nation's first contest between two women for the U. S. Senate exists today in Maine.

It took shape Wednesday with State Rep. Lucia M. Cormier's announcement she will seek the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat of Republican Margaret Chase Smith.

A race between the two will depend on the outcome of the primaries on June 20.

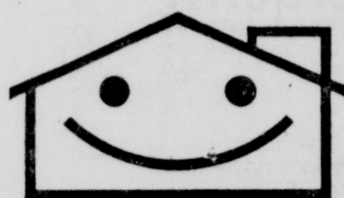

Mrs. Smith, lone woman in the Senate, has no opposition in her bid for renomination, and none is expected. But Miss Cormier will have to beat Thomas L. Maynard of Portland, a mutual fund salesman and former state representative.

By Background and character, Miss Cormier, 48, and Mrs. Smith, 62, are similar in many ways. Both are former school teachers, and both have made something of an impact on their respective political levels.

Mrs. Smith was the first woman elected to the Senate in her own right, and she is the first woman to have served in both branches of Congress.

Miss Cormier, on the other hand, is the first woman to be named minority leader of the Maine House, where she has served 12 years.

Like Mrs. Smith she has a reputation for being firm, forthright and conscientious in her pursuit of legislative duties.

Theft of Ammo At Fort Niagara Is Under Probe

FORT NIAGARA, N. Y. (AP)—Military and State Police today were investigating the theft of an undetermined amount of rifle ammunition from this military installation last Feb. 14.

In revealing the theft Wednesday, State Police said two teen-aged boys had admitted taking the ammunition from a bunker adjacent to the fort's rifle range. State Police estimated the theft at 4,000 rounds, but military officials at the base said it was believed that 1,600 rounds were taken. The base is the home of the Army's second artillery group of the Air Defense Command.

The youths, whose names were withheld, were released in the custody of their parents.

The bunker from which the ammunition was taken was unguarded, and the bullets were stored in metal containers. Police said they did not know the method used to remove the ammunition.

State Police said they found quantities of ammunition powder stored in glass jars in the boys' homes in nearby Youngstown. The bullets were the type used in carbine and M-1 rifles.

Police said the youths traded bullets for items at their school. The trading led to their arrest, police added.

Tire Exchange

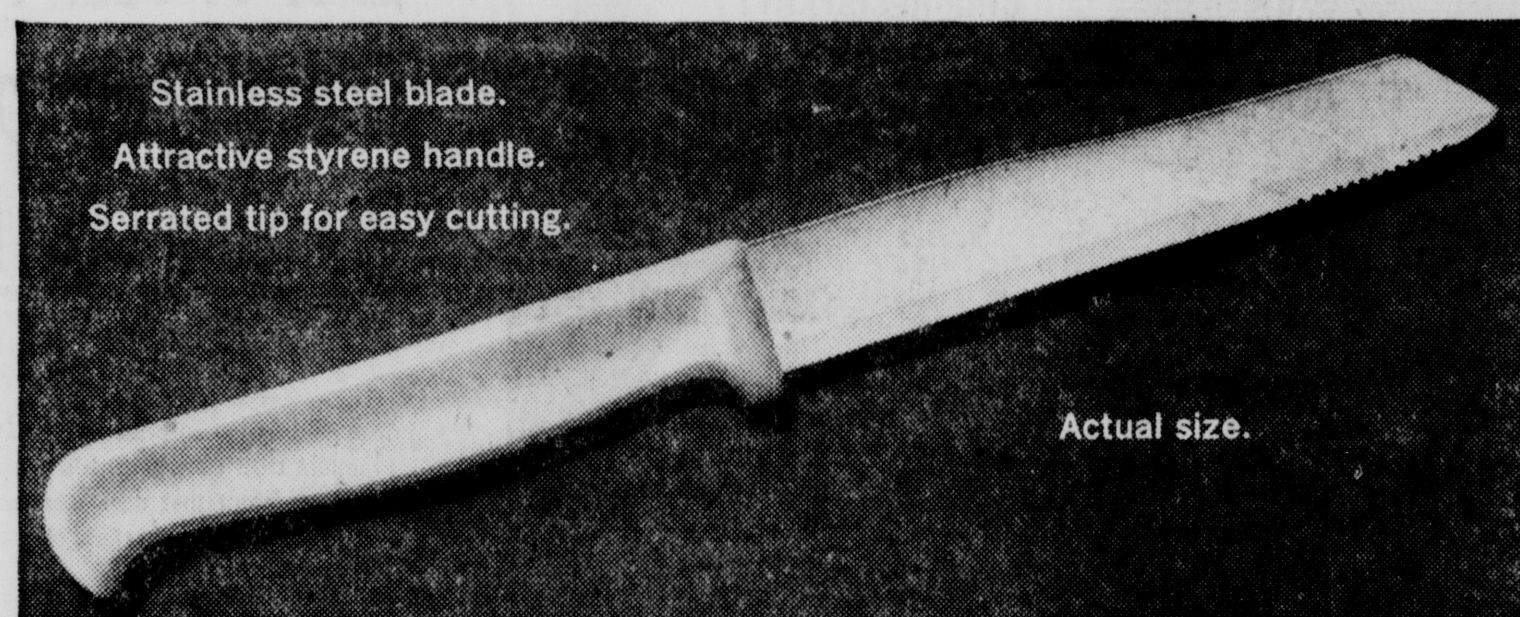

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—A thief jacked up the car of George Richardson Wednesday and stole a new tire. He didn't leave Richardson in the lurch, however. The thief replaced the new tire with a worn but usable retread.

Extra Trick Slight Risk

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Duplicate bridge teaches the trick of picking up extra tricks from nowhere. Take today's hand as an example.

How would you go about picking up an extra trick?

A club is opened and continseems most unlikely so you lead a low heart toward dummy.

If West is at all alert he will go right up with the ace. This is one spot where he can't gain anything by ducking, but West is only human and may go wrong. If he does you discard a heart on dummy's last club and run off all your trumps. On the last trump West is squeezed out of either his ace of hearts or his diamond stopper and you have made six instead of the normal five.

First Woman Named To UAW Review Board

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Dr. Jean T. McKelvey of Cornell University, a member of the New York State Board of Mediation, is the first woman to become a member of the United Auto Workers Public Review Board.

Mrs. McKelvey succeeded Clark Kerr, president of the University of California, who resigned because of the press of his university duties and the traveling distance to Detroit.

The union said Wednesday that Mrs. McKelvey, of Ithaca, N. Y., accepted its invitation to serve on the seven-member board.

The big auto union set up the review board in 1957 as an independent group with blanket authority to act on dispute within the union and to deal with union ethics.

Names Job Safety Week

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, who says "methods exist or can be devised to eliminate almost all occupational accidents," Wednesday proclaimed Feb. 28-March 5 as Job Safety Week in New York State.

Proposes Study Of Atrocities in School Course

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Public school pupils should learn of "the horrible atrocities against Jews and Catholics which occurred during the Nazi-Communist religious prosecution era," a legislator urges.

Assemblyman Francis P. McCloskey (R-Nassau) said he told Education Commissioner James E. Allen Wednesday that several hours of such instruction should be provided in courses of citizenship education or history.

The instruction is needed "because of the recent acts of desecration of houses of religious worship and schools in this country by youths who apparently have not been instructed in the fatal consequences to those of all religious beliefs arising from acts of religious prejudice," McCloskey said.

Courses in humane treatment of animals and birds are mandated in the schools, he said. "It is more important that our students learn to live in understanding with each other's beliefs," McCloskey added. Allen could not be reached for comment.

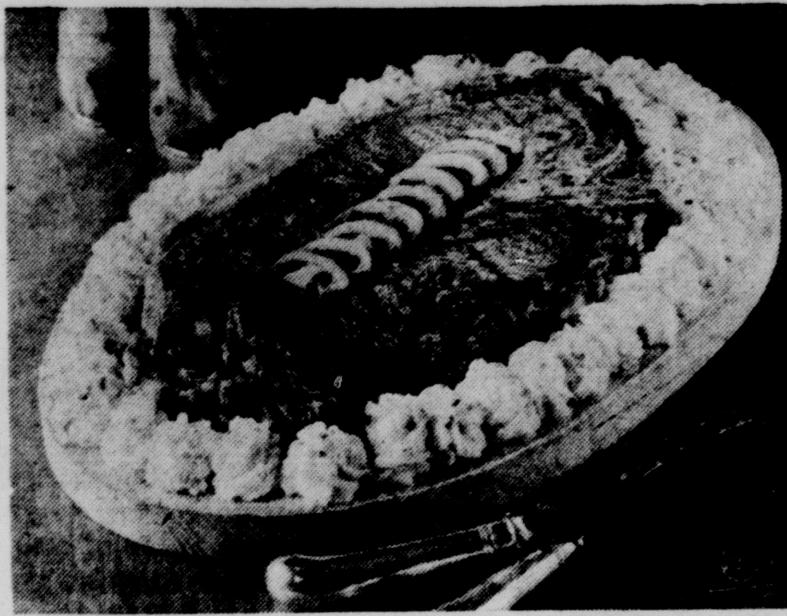

Dies of Injuries

GLENS FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Raymond Gilbert, 30, of North Creek, died early today in Glens Falls Hospital of injuries suffered in a one-car accident Wednesday night on a county road one-half mile from Pottersville.

The name of Lichfield, England means "The City of the Dead." A thousand Christians were supposedly martyred there in Roman persecutions about the year 286.

Quick Duchess Potatoes Glorify Any Main Course

INSTANT Duchess potatoes are a time and taste boon to the home chef. Here they add flavor glamour to a planked steak.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Food and Markets Editor

Planked broiled steak ringed with Duchess potatoes turns any meal into a small banquet. The potatoes, done the convenience way, are a matter of minutes despite their gourmet appearance.

Use new instant potato flakes, premeasured in foil envelopes, to a 5 1/2-ounce package. Empty the contents of an envelope into boiling water to which cold milk and butter have been added, then whip. No peeling, boiling or mashing.

Duchess Potatoes (Makes 8 servings)
Two cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup milk, 2 envelopes instant whipped potato flakes, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 eggs, beaten; melted butter, paprika.

Combine water, salt and pepper in medium-size saucepan; cover; bring to a boil. Remove from heat. Add milk immediately, then instant whipped potato flakes and butter; stir gently with fork or wire whip until liquid is absorbed. Whip briskly. Allow to cool for a few minutes. Stir in eggs. Shape potato mixture into 8 mounds on buttered baking sheet (put potatoes through a pastry tube to form mounds, if desired). Brush with melted butter; sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 10 minutes or until potatoes are golden brown.

Potato Meat Loaf (Makes 4-6 servings)

One and one-half pounds ground beef, 1 envelope instant whipped potato flakes, 1 egg, 1 cup water, 1 medium size onion, chopped; 1 tablespoon dehydrated parsley, 1 tablespoon garlic salt, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon black pepper.

Mix all ingredients together thoroughly. Pack into a 9 x 4 x

2-inch loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour, 10 minutes.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Blended grapefruit and tomato juice, planked broiled steak with rings of Duchess potatoes, canned baby peas with tiny white onions, French bread, mixed green salad, oil and lemon juice, pineapple Bavarian, coffee, tea, milk.

Canal Study Continues

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government continued its studies today of the proposed Richelieu Seaway to link the St. Lawrence and Hudson Rivers.

The proposed canal would link the rivers via the Richelieu River east of Montreal and Lake Champlain, creating an inland waterway between the port of New York and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

ued. You discard a diamond and play dummy's king of spades to maintain a possible finesse position if East holds all four trumps. He doesn't, but West shows out on the second trump play.

If you play for a sure five odd you will draw the last trump, but there is an overtrick play if West holds four diamonds and the ace of hearts and can be persuaded to make a mistake. All you risk is a ruff of a heart if East holds a singleton and that

2 Trust Company Officers to Attend Point Institute

James W. Robertson and Fred P. Carpenter, assistant vice-presidents of Kingston Trust Company, have been selected to attend the first session of the Bankers Institute for Consumer Credit Management to be conducted at the U. S. Hotel Thayer, West Point, from Feb. 28 through March 11, it was announced today by Arthur A. Davis, president of the bank.

Sponsored by the New York State Bankers Association's Educational Section, this Institute is the latest addition to its formal School of Banking.

The curriculum focuses upon information necessary for the successful operation of consumer lending under current economic conditions. Lectures and discussions will center around 10 important areas: State and Federal laws governing installment lending, Operations, Collections, Audit Controls, Insurance, Economics, Public Interest and Protection, Cost Analysis, Management Policies, and Consumer Service.

The student body is selected on the basis of the background and experience of the individual and is limited to 50 bankers in each session.

"It is the policy of our bank to keep abreast of all the changes in the field of money and banking through these educational institutes, in order to better serve our customers and our community," Davis said.

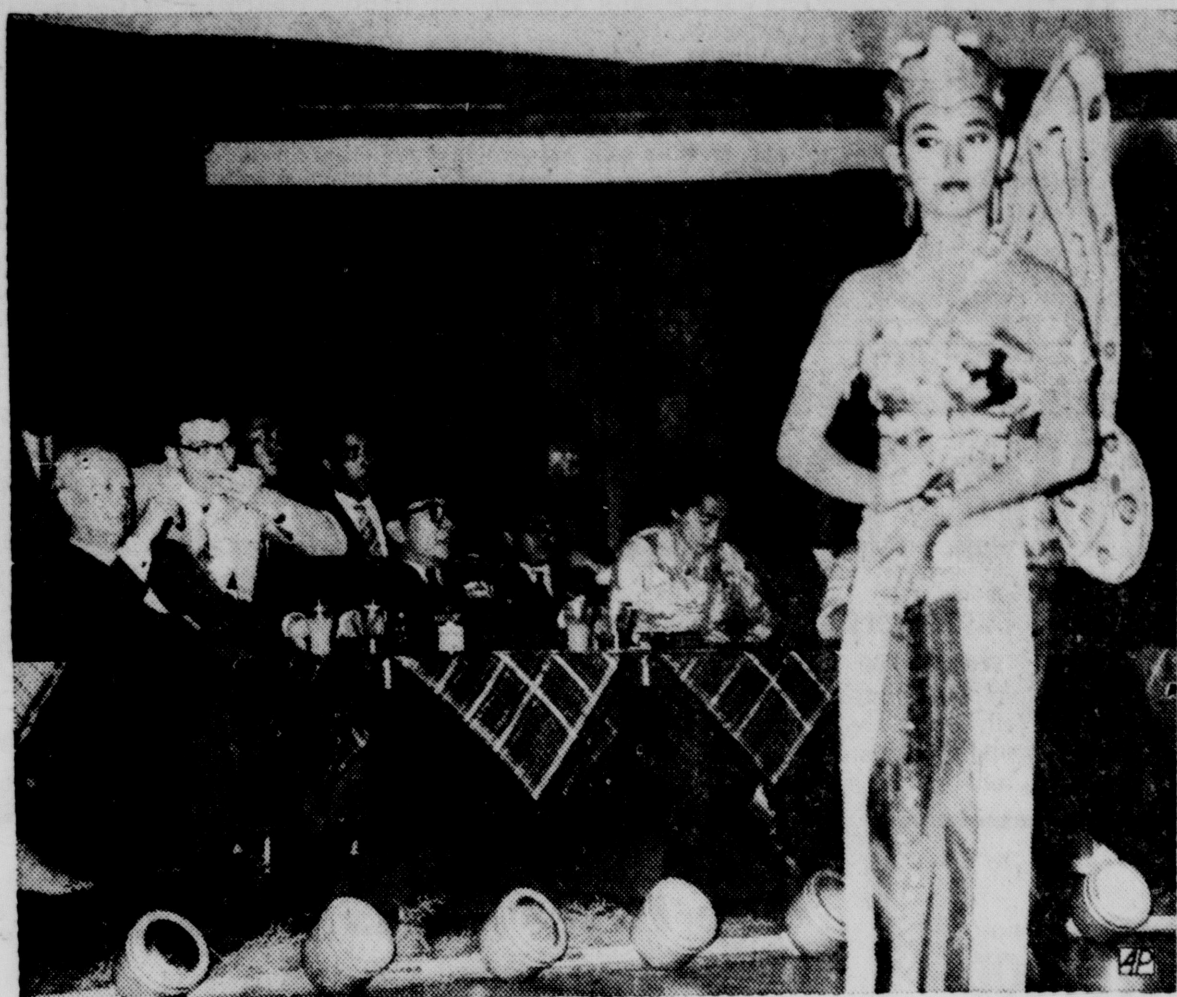

Church Council Move Hits Manual of AF

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The National Council of Churches turns from criticism of Air Force manuals to a discussion of child labor, Mexican farm labor and politics today.

The general board of the council closes a two-day meeting.

The board Wednesday approved a resolution asking why and how the Air Force permitted publication of a training manual which included charges of Communist infiltration into some American churches.

The resolution attacked the manual, demanded material in another Air Force manual issued in 1955 be deleted, and that a full explanation of the whole matter be made public by the Air Force. "When this has been accomplished the National Council of Churches of Christ will consider the Air Force incident concluded," the resolution said.

Fourth in Jail For Beating and Robbery of Pair

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—A fourth person was in jail today in connection with the beating and $3,000 robbery of a dairyman and his invalid wife.

State Police accused Eugene Belrose, 45, of selecting dairyman Milton Clark, 61, of Chazy, as the victim for two Canadians. Police said Belrose drew a diagram of the house and gave other advice. They arrested him Wednesday night at his home in Champlain on a charge of conspiracy in the robbery.

A Montreal waitress and two Montreal men were arrested earlier this week. All were jailed, pending grand jury action.

Dist. Atty. Thomas R. North said Jean Hebert, 25, and Leo Gazaille, 28, admitted dragging Clark and his wife from their beds, beating them and taking the money from a safe in the home. The waitress, Marie Lefebvre, 25, waited in an automobile and later helped to divide the money, police said. She was charged with being an accessory.

Gibbons, Hoffa's Aide, Indicted

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Harold J. Gibbons, a vice president of the Teamsters Union and top aide to Teamsters President James Hoffa, was indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday on a charge of making illegal political contributions. Five other teamster officials also were indicted.

All were accused of violating the Taft-Hartley Act, which forbids unions and corporations from contributing funds to candidates for federal office.

The alleged offenses are misdemeanors, carrying maximum penalties of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine, or both, on each count.

Indicted with Gibbons were Sidney Zagari, legislative counsel for the union; John Naber, secretary of Local 688 in St. Louis; William Latal, president of Local 688; Philip C. Reichardt, acting secretary of taxicab driver's Local 405 in St. Louis, and Joseph Bommarito, business agent for Local 405.

The indictments also named Locals 688 and 405 as defendants. The 22-count indictment followed a five-month investigation by U.S. Atty. Wayne H. Bigler, the FBI and the Internal Revenue Service.

In 1956 and 1958, the indictment charged, payments ranging from $250 to $5,000 were made to the campaigns of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, (D-Mo); Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore); Rep. Henry Roosevelt (D-Calif); Rep. Henry Reuss (D-Wis) and unsuccessful congressional candidates James L. Sullivan and Robert C. Dowd, both of St. Louis.

Niagara Mohawk Also to Request Electric Boost

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., which bid Wednesday to increase its natural gas rates by $3,844,000, disclosed today it would seek a further boost in electric rates.

Earle J. Machold, company president, said in his annual report to stockholders that Niagara Mohawk's earnings had been "adversely affected" since the Schoellkopf hydro-electric plant disaster in 1956.

Effective March 28 "Rate relief thus far afforded us has been inadequate and, following the completion of pending studies," Machold said, "we propose to seek a further increase in our electric rates."

The new schedule for natural gas charges, filed with the Public Service Commission at Albany, will take effect automatically on March 28 unless the state agency acts.

In his report, Machold said Niagara Mohawk had achieved substantial gains in sales, revenues, customers served and generating capability during 1959.

However, he added, earnings per share of common stock declined from $2.12 to $2.07 a share from 1958.

"While Niagara Mohawk's earnings improved steadily during the first half of the decade just completed, they have been reduced and not fully restored since the Schoellkopf hydro-electric plant disaster in June 1956.

Greatest Loss Seen "This was probably the greatest loss ever experienced by a utility company. Replacement of its power output, through steam generation and purchased power, has been costly by comparison and had adversely affected earnings," Machold contended.

Giant rockslides killed one employee and wrecked two-thirds of the Schoellkopf plant at the Niagara River gorge near Niagara Falls.

Last year, Niagara Mohawk electric sales totaled 17 billion kilowatt hours, a gain of 10.7 per cent over 1958. Sales of natural gas reached a record 57 billion cubic feet, a 12.5 per cent gain, Machold reported.

Revenues totaled $285,323,000, an increase of $21,460,000 over 1958. Net income reached $31,442,000, up $1,059,000 over the previous year.

Studio, Actors Agree HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Universal-International Pictures is the first major studio to reach a settlement with the Screen Writers Guild.

The studio signed a five-year contract Wednesday, ending the writers' strike against the studio that started Jan. 16.

The new contract provides for payment to writers of 2 per cent of profits from release of post-1948 films sold to TV.

Good on Sandwiches

Save the giblets from broiler-fryers and when you have enough of them use along with wing tips for stock. The giblets themselves may be put through a food chopper and mixed with mayonnaise, pickle relish, salt and pepper for a sandwich spread. Mashed hard-cooked eggs are also a good addition.

Bus Driver Loses Life in Crash

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—A trailer truck jackknifed on a snow-slick curve early this morning and collided head on with a Greyhound bus carrying 22 passengers. Only the bus driver was killed.

He was Leland S. Cummins, 50, of Lexington, Ky.

All the passengers were taken to a Richmond infirmary, but only one was believed hurt seriously. He is Robert Caylor, 44, of Detroit. Doctors said his left leg was broken.

Many of the passengers suffered severe shock as well as minor cuts and bruises. One of the passengers, Ronald Consolver, 18, an Air Force enlisted man from Ft. Gordon, Ga., said the impact had knocked him out of a bus window.

Truck driver Andrew Barnes, 43, of Cincinnati, said he could not control his truck after it had begun to curve and down a slope toward the mouth of the bridge.

He said the trailer slid across the highway center stripe and smashed head on into the south-bound bus. Barnes was not hurt.

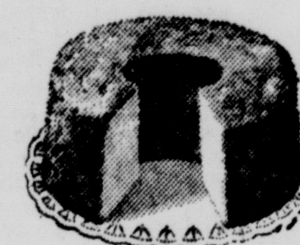

The bus was bound from Lexington to Chattanooga, Tenn.

Farmers Advised Against Feeding Unwilted Silage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dairy farmers are being advised by Agriculture Department scientists against feeding their animals silage made from unwilted grass-legume mixtures.

Experiments conducted at the department's big research center at Beltsville, Md., were said to show that such silage retards growth of young heifers and causes milk cows to reduce production.

The unwilted silage was found to affect appetite of the animals. An unidentified compound was blamed. The department said that farmers should wilt their grass-legume crop a few hours before ensiling, even though this involves mowing before chopping. If silage is not wilted, some hay should be included in the ration, it said.

Tug Captain Is Critical of Pilot Rules Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada would discriminate against U. S. pilots under Great Lakes pilotage regulations being considered by both governments, William E. Golden of Ogdensburg, N. Y., says.

Golden, a tugboat captain, told a Senate commerce subcommittee that Canada now insists that even U. S. Naval vessels must have Canadian pilots in American waters.

Golden asked: "How can anyone arrive on the conclusion that they will agree to anything on a reciprocal basis?"

"The Canadian government has virtually complete control over the entire Great Lakes pilot situation (and) for all intents and purposes they intend to keep it that way," he said.

The subcommittee ended two days of hearings Wednesday on a bill to establish new regulations on pilots for the Great Lakes. Nearly all witnesses agreed that the proposed system would work.

The bill under consideration would permit the President to designate those U. S. waters of the Great Lakes in which a U. S. or Canadian-licensed pilot must be carried. In open waters, the bill would require only that a member of the crew be qualified to navigate.

Witnesses said Canadian authorities agree in principle with the proposal and plan to submit similar legislation to the Canadian Parliament when it appears likely the bill will be passed by Congress. This would permit the two nations to work out reciprocal pilotage arrangements.

Golden, however, said Canadian authorities recently prohibited the Grace Line from using U. S. pilots between St. Regis and Montreal "regardless of the fact that this has been considered part of the Great Lakes for as far back as the United States has treaties."

Golden said he would prepare and submit to the subcommittee a statement amplifying his criticism of Canadian practices, which he indicated were made possible by Canadian control over entrances to the Great Lakes.

Golden is business manager of Local 23 of the Licensed Tugmen and Pilot's Protective Assn.

SWEETIE PIE

By Nadine Seltzer

"My folks are on a health kick, so don't be surprised at anything you see!"

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I received interesting papers from Miss Lucinda Merritt, 113 Emerson Street, called "The Hurley Historian," published last year. One article in the Oct. 1959 issue is called "What In the World Is a Dutch Kas?" by Lewis C. Cooper, with a good photograph of one. If any reader thinks he has one, it would be wise to read this article in full and see this illustration.

According to Mr. Cooper, it seems that the word "kas," does not appear in Dutch dictionaries, as it is perhaps a Dutch-American version of the general term "kast" or "kasten" meaning, "cupboard, wardrobe, container." He feels that it usually was found in the homes of early Dutch settlers in the river valleys of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania. His illustration shows the four characteristics of a "kas." It should have a heavy top cornice, two long doors swinging together, one drawer below these doors and large round feet. He feels that the cupboard should have at least three of the four characteristics to be a "kas."

I suggest again that anyone having a cupboard that looks like a Dutch kas, should read this article throughout as I am just mentioning a few items from it. For instance he writes, that he feels most kasses seen today in museums and homes in this country, date from the first half of the 18th century. "One could almost say that they were out of style by 1750," many were taken to the cellar for jelly cupboards, others were changed for "pewter cupboards." There was a definite reason, Mr. Cooper feels, why the kas was built with a large cornice, and large round feet.

The Hurley Historian put out for the Festival is a very fine little paper. I see the November-December 1959 is the final number. These papers will be cherished by many and no doubt many years later copies will be found and read again with pleasure. Little items such as "Claude Palen's grandfather, John Palen of Marletown, was the contractor for the Hurley Church in 1853," is part of history. An item from Harry Rigby Jr. column in same May 1959 issue. "Even the illustrious John Vanderlyn turned his artistic hand to carving of butter molds, examples of which may be seen today in the Senate House Museum in Kingston."

Although I have no say in the matter, I do not think this little paper should be discontinued entirely because the Festival is over but should come out several times a year. Perhaps someone will continue to collect Hurley items and the little "Hurley Historian" will appear from time to time.

Here's one item from Albert Kurt's column in the May 1959 issue. "Although Kingston was the first capital of New York State, Hurley was the capital for a longer period of time than Kingston. But this fact will not be known unless residents of Hurley tell the world..."

Another item from Mrs. Gordon W. Gunning's column of the May issue "Recollections: Occasionally I was taken to call on old Uncle Charlie (a great-uncle). He was Charles DuMont, a veteran of the Civil War. He had been imprisoned in Andersonville Prison in the south and remembered the 'bugs and beans' which had been their food. He was a gentle soul, interested in his flower garden, and was always trying to raise a blue rose."

More than a third of the land in major crops—about 200 million acres—in the Far East is under irrigation.

Cookie Sale Begins

Friday will be the first day of the annual Ulster County Girl Scout Cookie Sale. More than 2100 Girl Scouts and Brownies will be taking orders for the following varieties of cookies: the four-flavored sandwich cremes, Savannahs, a nut-butter cookie, Scot-teas, a plain cookie, and chocolate covered mints, all of which may be kept in the freezer.

When you order your cookies you are helping girls throughout the county between the ages of 7-17 to a well-rounded program in Scouting. Part of the proceeds for the sale go toward the Council's operating expenses, and part toward the maintenance and development of Camp Wendy at Wallkill, for overnight and weekend troop camping during all seasons of the year with the exception of the winter months due to the lack of winterized units.

Each year the number of Ulster County Scouts attending established camp during the summer season increases. The camp accommodates 100 girls every two weeks during camping season from July 3 through August 13 under the supervision of 26 staff members, when operating at full capacity.

Mrs. Allen J. Albrecht of Woodstock, general chairman, Mrs. Horace Brown of Kingston, co-chairman, and Mrs. Eugene J. Breiding of Kingston, public relations chairman, have been setting up the organizational structure of the sale on a county wide basis with the help of Robert C. Ickes of the Bury Biscuit Corp. Ickes reported that all cookies are baked with pure vegetable shortening. They will be delivered during the week of March 28.

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc., is a member agency of the Kingston Area Community Chest.

Mrs. Frieda Dingee Is Co-Author of New Text Book

A local principal, Mrs. Frieda H. Dingee, and a former Kingston grade supervisor, Dr. Mildred A. Dawson, are authors of a new text designed to help teachers in their language arts instruction.

The book, entitled "Children Learn the Language Arts," has been published by Burgess Publishing Company, Minneapolis, Minn. The modern, integrated approach of this new book presents methods of reading and teaching in the same section. It is designed to bring out the natural interrelationships among the language arts and to show how reading and language instruction can give mutual reinforcement.

The authors have made an earnest attempt to write simply, directly, and explicitly. The recommended procedures are backed by wide research and the results of the authors' own classroom experiences in using modern and effective methods. Students and teachers who use this book will be able to understand what to teach at any particular stage in the curriculum and how to teach it.

The book is organized into three sections. The first is concerned with aspects of the language-arts program that are common to the primary and middle-upper grade programs; for example, listening. The second deals with methods at the primary grade level, while section three presents methods for teaching children in the middle and upper grades.

Mrs. Frieda H. Dingee is principal of School 7. In addition to teaching in School 8 and M.J.M. she has served as elementary supervisor and as reading supervisor. She has had additional experience working in the reading clinic at Temple University.

Dr. Mildred A. Dawson is a professor in the Department of Education, Sacramento State College, Calif.

American Ballet Theatre Announces Artists And Repertory for 20th Anniversary Season

Leading dancers and repertory for the American Ballet Theatre's 20th anniversary season were announced today by Lucia Chase and Oliver Smith, directors of the company. The three week engagement at the Metropolitan Opera House from April 19 through May 7 has been proclaimed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York as "The American Ballet Theatre's Twentieth Anniversary Celebration."

The season is on the eve of the company's departure for Europe, and Russia where the American Ballet Theatre will be the first American dance company to perform in the Soviet Union.

Principal dancers will be: Nora Kaye, Erik Bruhn, Lupe Serrano, John Kriza, Scott Douglas, Ruth Ann Koesun, Royce Fernandez, Ady Addor, Tommy Rall.

Alicia Markova, Claude Bessy, and Alicia Alonso and Igor Youskevitch will be guest artists.

The soloists are: Sallie Wilson, Glen Tetley, Irene Apine, Martin Schaefer, Christine Mayer, Ivan Allen, Elisabeth Carol, Darrell Notara.

Conductors are Kenneth Schermerhorn and Jan Tomasow.

Dimitri Romanoff, who is celebrating his 20th year with the company, is regisseur and Fernand Nault is the ballet master.

For the anniversary season, 21 ballets and four pas de deux have been selected from the company's repertory of 68 productions. They will include: Billy the Kid, Bluebeard, Capriccio, Chopin Concerto, Designs With Strings, Fall River Legend, Fancy Free, Giselle, Graduation Ball, Jardin Aux Lilas, Judgment of Paris, La Fille Mal Gardee, Lady From the Sea, Les Sylphides, Miss Julie, Pas de Quatre, Pillar of Fire, Rodeo, Serenade for Seven, The Combat, Theme and Variations.

Two new productions will be premiered during the season. "Lady From the Sea," based on the Ibsen play, will have its world premiere on April 20th. Choreography is by Birgit Cullberg whose success was established in this country with the premiere of "Miss Julie" during The American Ballet Theatre's last New York season. Knudaaage Rissager has just completed the new score for "Lady From the Sea" and Kerstin Hedeby is the designer.

"Serenade for Seven" will be given its American premiere on April 26th. Herbert Ross has choreographed the ballet to Leonard Bernstein's Serenade for Solo Violin, String Orchestra, Harp and Percussion.

Five revivals have been added for the anniversary celebration. They are Bluebird, Chopin Concerto, Jardin Aux Lilas, La Fille Mal Gardee and Rodeo.

"Chopin Concerto" is a revised version of "Constantia" which William Dollar is now rehearsing with the company. It will have an entirely new production with costumes by Karinska.

The productions selected for this 20th anniversary season highlight The American Ballet Theatre's policy of presenting a full range of artistic collaboration. They represent 17 choreographers, 20 composers, and 19 designers.

In preparation for this engagement and the subsequent tour of Europe and Russia, choreographers have been invited to rehearse their own ballets. Already scheduled are: Agnes de Mille, Birgit Cullberg, Eugene Loring, William Dollar, David Lichine, Herbert Ross and John Taras.

Lighting for all productions will be set by Jean Rosenthal. The opening night curtain is 8 p. m. Subsequent performances are 8:30 p. m. with Saturday matinees at 2:30 p. m.

The Opening Night Gala, to be followed by a champagne supper dance, is a benefit for the company.

Ulster Garden Club Prepares for Flower Show in New York

The 1960 International Flower Show will be held at the Coliseum in New York March 5-12. It is hoped residents of Kingston will attend, if only for a few hours, as there will be an exhibition of unusual interest.

The Garden Club of America has asked the Ulster Garden Club to be represented at the Flower Show by creating one of the four gardens to be shown.

These four gardens will edge a modern pool, flanked on either side by a large expanse of lawn shaded by three tall trees.

With the use of plant materials as a medium, the gardens will interpret the intricate designs of ancient mosaics in modern free flowing forms. Brilliant colors will predominate in the flowers accenting the gardens and pool against a dark, contemporary background.

These gardens will be in competition and will be judged for their overall effect in the use of color and design.

Mrs. Gifford R. Beal and her committee have been working since November getting their materials ready for the opening of the Flower Show.

Good Taste Today

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

GIFTS FROM HER EMPLOYER

Dear Mrs. Post: I have received several very nice presents from my boss during this past busy year. I've stretched a point to cooperate when there was extra work to be done and I think that is why the gifts were given me. I have thanked him verbally each time and let it go at that. However, I know that his wife is responsible for picking out the gifts. I know her only on the telephone and nothing has been said about her when the gifts were handed to me. Should I thank her too when talking to her, or what could I do to acknowledge her part?

Answer: Unless your employer has told you that the gifts are from his wife as well as from himself, it would be actually lacking in good taste to mention these gifts to her, unless she happens to ask you if you liked this or that gift which she helped choose.

Giving Her Own Birthday Party

Dear Mrs. Post: I will soon be celebrating my seventeenth birthday. I had planned on giving a party and inviting my many friends to help me celebrate. I have been told that it would be bad taste to give my own birthday party. Will you please advise me if this is true.

Answer: The best thing for you to do is to invite friends to a party, and only tell them after they arrive that you wanted to have them with you on your birthday. In this way none of them will feel embarrassed because they have brought no presents.

Cocktail Party Hors D'Oeuvres

Dear Mrs. Post: At a cocktail party I went to the other day, the waiter came around with a tray of hors d'oeuvres. I took two from the tray but I noticed that everyone else took only one. I felt rather embarrassed and have been wondering whether I did the wrong thing. Did I?

Answer: At cocktail parties the hors d'oeuvres are passed around again and again so that it is quite unnecessary to take two at a time, but there is nothing wrong in doing so.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-29, entitled "Buffet Dinners, Lunches, and Suppers," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The Bell Syndicate)

Two Performances Slated for Local Theatre Production

Dan, the bell-hop turned thrill-killer, will be terrorizing the English countryside for just two more times in the Coach House presentation of the murder-melodrama hit called "Night Must Fall." Even more popular today than when it started its spine-tingling course in 1935, the Emlyn Williams shudder success will continue at the George Washington School tonight and Saturday evenings.

"Night Must Fall" concerns a psychopathic murderer. It relates psychological motivations and drives which cause this charming and guileful young man to hate women and eventually kill them.

James Flynn who plays the unbalanced killer presents a moving and stirring performance as Dan, the bell-boy whose secret passion is to kill.

Other reports about the play include that about Eve Wulf who portrays the part of the shrewish old lady, Mrs. Bramson, gives a believable performance. Eve's mood changes from the giddy infatuated individual to the exhibitionistic cut-throat.

There is one bit player who deserves mention. Harriette Engelen who plays Mrs. Terrance, the cook, comes through consistently with her Irish accent. All her comedy lines flow evenly and naturally. Her wit and humor add greatly to the production.

The cat-and-mouse by-play between the old lady and the bell-boy in their final scene together is one of the most spine-chilling of the play's episodes. Between popping chocolates in her mouth and assuring her that she reminds him of his mother, the unfeeling killer casually rolls up his sleeves — simply that — and it's truly a blood-curdling piece of business.

Under the direction of Houston Richards, the Coach House presentation of "Night Must Fall" is reported to be very good. Others in the cast are: the Rev. Herald C. Swezy, Eloise Gardner, Dixon McGrath, Gilda Zalesak and John Quimby.

PLAN SISTERHOOD SOCIAL — Members of Sisterhood of Agudas Achim will sponsor their "Two Penny Social" in the vestry hall of Agudas Achim on Saturday, March 12, at 9 p. m. Formulating plans for the gala event are, seated (l-r) Mrs. Philip Posner, chairman; Mrs. Jack Epstein, refreshments; Mrs. Joseph Krosner, telephones; Mrs. August Cohen, Mrs. Herman Schneider. (Rear (l-r) Mrs. Philip Kleinman, and Mrs. Harry Friedman, president. (Freeman photo)

Saugerties Queen Receives Franchise To Enter State Pageant Here July 6-9

A vivacious 18-year-old Glasco girl, Nancy Misasi, Miss Saugerties of 1960 will be a contestant in the Miss New York State Pageant to be held in Kingston, July 6 to 9.

The raven-haired Saugerties High School senior will compete on the basis of a franchise granted Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce to enter the winner of its annual Miss Saugerties Pageant.

Miss Misasi won the 1960 title last summer and since then has been receiving dancing instructions in the hopes of entering the Miss Ulster County contest. However, the Kingston Jaycees, who sponsor the state pageant preliminary to the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, have to this date been unable to secure a sponsor for the county event.

In the event a franchise is not granted for an Ulster County contest, Miss Saugerties will probably be the only girl from the county competing in the state pageant. If there is an Ulster County contest, Miss Saugerties will enter the state pageant on the basis of her title won in the Miss Saugerties Pageant.

Miss Misasi, advertising manager of The Sawyer, Saugerties High School yearbook, will graduate in June. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Misasi of Glasco.

The franchise was validated Wednesday by Guy Visk of Kingston Jaycees, state pageant director and forwarded to Mrs. Joan Feldmann, social activities chairman of Saugerties Area

MISS NANCY MISASI

Chamber of Commerce. Since her coronation as Miss Saugerties, Miss Misasi has officiated at many of the township's social and civic functions. She spent a weekend in Atlantic City as a guest of the Chamber, her award for winning the Saugerties competition, and played a prominent role in the township's Hudson-Champlain activities last summer.

She served on the reception committee for the annual Saugerties on Parade Assemblage Day last August, and later in the fall was named queen of the Legion Ball by Lamouree-Hackett

Post 72 of Saugerties. One of her first duties following the coronation ball June 23 was as honorary grand marshal of the annual July 4th parade sponsored by Saugerties Jaycees.

Hercules President Announces College Grants Program

More than $110,000 in unrestricted grants-in-aid is being distributed by Hercules Powder Company among thirty colleges and universities, it was announced today. The unrestricted grants-in-aid program gives complete freedom in the use of these funds to the heads of departments of chemistry, chemical engineering, physics, mechanical engineering, and others in the participating schools.

Based on the theory that the educators themselves know what is best to strengthen the American educational system, Hercules' long-standing program of financial aid to institutions of higher education is designed to provide them with the freedom so necessary to achieve new levels in their fields of science.

In announcing the list of recipients of the grants-in-aid, Albert E. Forster, president and board chairman of Hercules, said: "Our educational system is tightly woven into the fabric of this nation's industrial economy and its national defense. Only by providing educators the opportunity to guide our young people in developing their skills and talents to the fullest extent can we maintain our high standards of living and our freedom."

Mr. Forster added that this continuation of Hercules' program of financial aid to education serves also to expand the understanding between personnel in industry and those on the college and university levels. He pointed out that the U. S. chemical industry, of which Hercules is a part, also conducts an aid-to-education program in the fields of chemistry and science through the Manufacturing Chemists' Association, Inc.

Among the colleges and universities receiving the grants-in-aid this year are: Bryn Mawr College, California Institute of Technology, Case Institute of Technology, Cornell University, University of Delaware, Franklin and Marshall College, Harvard University, University of Illinois, Indiana University, Iowa State University, Lehigh University, Louisiana State University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Miami, Michigan College of Mining and Technology, University of Minnesota, North Carolina State College, North Dakota Agricultural College, University of Notre Dame, Pennsylvania State University, University of Pittsburgh, Princeton University, Purdue University, Rutgers University, Stanford University, University of Utah, Villanova University, Virginia Military Institute, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, University of Wisconsin.

Nine of the grants were made to chemistry departments, twelve to engineering departments, three to mechanical engineering departments, one to a mining engineering department, and six to miscellaneous departments.

Recipients of the grants are selected from year to year on a cyclic basis in an attempt to distribute funds available to the greatest number of schools and departments. Factors such as the academic standing of the school and its science and engineering departments, the number of alumni from the school employed by Hercules, its proximity to Hercules plants and industrial locations, and the acuteness of the need are some of the items considered in the selection of the schools to participate in this program.

Van Cliburn Playing Studied by Music Appreciation Group

The Music Appreciation Group met at the home of Miss Grace Shumway on February 11.

Mrs. Hans Decker presented the program on Van Cliburn for Mrs. Norman Swibold, who was ill.

Van Cliburn, a young pianist from Kilgore, Texas, rose to prominence with his thrilling victory in the first International Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow in April 1958. Alexander Greiner of Steinway through Rosina Lhevinne, who taught Van Cliburn at Juilliard School of Music, persuaded Van Cliburn to enter the Moscow competition.

Van Cliburn, according to Winthrop Sargeant of the New Yorker, is a special, and profoundly impressive piano player. His octave passages are electrifying. He can produce tremendous volume and variety of tone and has tasteful and assured use of rubato, and, in the style of the distinguished virtuoso of the past, the sure sense of musical phrasing and all the remaining elements of musical sensitivity that go to make up a superb keyboard artist.

His American concerts were very well received, and it will be interesting to watch further development of this able artist.

Van Cliburn's recording of Tchaikovsky's First Concerto, which won him first prize in Moscow, was played, as were various other works.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Pixley.

Mesa Verde Topic For Monday Club

A program based on the history of the Mesa Verde was presented at the Saugerties Monday Club meeting this week by Mrs. George P. Werner, at the Saugerties Methodist Church parsonage.

Her presentation follows: "In the extreme southwest corner of Colorado is an eroded table land where today can be seen the remains of hundreds of dwellings once occupied by the prehistoric inhabitants of the Mesa. Mesa Verde is Spanish for green table."

"The Mesa Verde was inhabited for about 1300 years by agricultural Indians. Archeologists divide the occupation into four periods, each of which has a descriptive name."

"The first farming Indians of the Mesa Verde are called basketmakers, because the weaving of excellent baskets was their outstanding craft. From about 1 to 400 A.D. these Indians lived in shallow caves and knew nothing of houses, pottery making or the use of the bow and arrow."

"The modified basketmaker period from 400 to 750 A.D. saw many new developments. The Indians learned to make pottery and build roofed dwellings. Theirs was a corn, beans and squash economy."

"From 750 to 1100 A.D. the people showed an increasing tendency to group their houses together to form compact villages. To these a Spanish term 'pueblo' meaning village has been given and the period is called the Developmental Pueblo Period. This period was a time of peace, expansion and progress."

"The Great, or Classic Pueblo Period (A.D. 1100 to 1300) as the name implies marks the climax of the Pueblo culture in the Mesa Verde and arts and crafts reached the peak of their development."

"During the last century of the Great Pueblo Period most of the Indians left the mesa tops and built their homes in caves in the cliffs of the Canyon walls. Probably this was done to escape harassment by some other tribe of Indians."

"Mrs. Werner showed slides of the cliff dwellings which the Werners saw when they visited the area last summer."

"The resignation of Mrs. Harold Pangburn was accepted with regret and Mrs. Dean Van Etten was welcomed into active membership."

"Next week's meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George Hildebrandt on Finger Street. At this meeting a collection will be taken and forwarded to CARE."

Nikita Pledges Indonesian Aid In Freedom Fight

DENPASAR, Bali (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today pledged the Soviet Union's support to Indonesia's struggle to gain control of Dutch West New Guinea.

"The Soviet people consider it a just and legal demand," the Soviet leader told a cheering crowd of 10,000 in downtown Denpasar, capital of the Isle of Bali.

Seated atop a bamboo platform, Khrushchev and President Sukarno watched an hour-long procession of Hindu rites representing birth to marriage.

The Soviet Premier, wearing a pith helmet to shield his bald head from the hot sun, seemed to enjoy the entertainment. Later, in a speech of thanks, he attacked imperialism and colonialism and warned the Indonesians they will have to keep on defending the freedom they won from the Dutch.

Shelter Costs Too Much for Worker, Democrat Charges

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DUNKIRK, N. Y. (AP) — The state chairman of the Democratic Party has hurled a verbal bomb at Gov. Rockefeller's fallout shelter proposal.

No Cause Verdict Given by Jury In Work Case

A verdict of no cause of action was returned Wednesday afternoon in County Court in an action brought by Armand Jeronimo and another against Eugene Glusker, an action to recover for work, labor and services and furnishing of materials. The jury found no cause for plaintiff and also in the counterclaim brought by defendant.

Earl H. Houghtaling Jr., appeared for plaintiffs and Robert V. Stapleton for defendant.

The next case on the calendar, an action under contract brought by Charles R. Horton against Abe Feinberg, was settled. The action involved the sale of hay. Clifford M. Barber for plaintiff and Saul H. Altholz for defendant.

Decision has been reserved in an action to recover goods had and received, brought by Daniel Hurley against Patricia Owens Szabo. The matter was heard by Surrogate Judge Francis X. Tucker who presided when County Judge Louis G. Bruhn disqualified himself because of former associations with a party.

Howard C. St. John appeared for plaintiff and Edward J. Mack for defendant.

In addition to disposition of many criminal cases, Judge Bruhn has thus far disposed of about 40 civil cases at the present term.

Michael H. Prendergast said the cost of constructing a shelter for protection from radioactive fallout "is beyond the means of the working class."

"You can't build a bomb shelter for $1,000," he told a gathering at a Democratic dinner here Wednesday night. "A flour sack can go through it at that cost."

Rockefeller has proposed a mandatory plan calling for home owners to build shelters, at their own expense, for protection in the event of nuclear attack.

The plan has stirred much controversy among legislative leaders, but has won the endorsement of the governor's State Defense Council.

Prendergast also called on Republicans to lift "the Iron Curtain which hides much of the happenings on Albany's Capitol Hill," and urged legislative rule-changes that would prevent what he said was "a handful" of Republicans killing bills in committee.

To lift the "Iron Curtain" Prendergast proposed daily, word-for-word publication and television coverage of "at least the most important phases" of government events in both houses of the Republican-controlled Legislature.

Transcriptions of events in the Assembly are provided only on request and for a fee. Copies are purchased after legislators concerned have had a chance to edit their remarks. Senate records are maintained daily and are available to legislators and news media a few days after the sessions are recorded.

Television is banned in the Senate, but occasional television coverage is granted in the Assembly.

Prendergast suggested that a "reasonable number" of legislators, perhaps a third, would be enough to force a bill from committee. A majority now is required.

Politicos Working Back of Facade On Rights Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some political maneuvering with the precision of a ballet dance is going on behind the facade of the Senate's marathon debate on civil rights legislation.

While one Dixie speaker after another cries out against what many of them call the "lynching" of the South, members on both sides are huddling behind the ornate closed doors of the cloakrooms to plot fresh political strategy.

The timing of a motion to limit debate is of paramount concern in these conferences.

The senators talked on for more than 12 1/2 hours before quitting Wednesday night, and Southerners threatened to prevent committee meetings and tie up all other Senate business in retaliation for the lengthened sessions.

The principal question facing civil rights advocates is: How long should the thus far one-sided debate be permitted to spin off the weary hours before a parliamentary move is made to curb it?

The question for Southern opponents is: How long do we have to carry the burden of talking, talking before the other side tries to demonstrate it has the votes to end our filibuster in a manner in which the folks at home can't blame us?

For the Southerners the problem is largely one of conserving their physical strength and vocal chords by time-delaying parliamentary tactics until the other side moves.

For the civil rights advocates, the problem of timing is much more complicated.

Almost without exception senators are proud that theirs is one legislative body left in the world in which a man ordinarily can talk as long as he likes about any subject he chooses.

As a result, it is difficult to get many of them to vote to curb the speaking privilege. A few won't cast such a vote under any circumstances.

Because of this, the timing will have to be exact to get the required two-thirds of those voting to cut off debate on the civil rights matter. A successful vote can come only after most senators believe it has been demonstrated to the public there is no other way to break a filibuster.

American-Italian Cagers Annex Major Basketball Crown

Trip Balotin's For 11th Victory In YMCA League Raider Quintet Minor Champions

American-Italian Restaurant cagers breezed to the YMCA Major League basketball title last night, throttling a stubborn Balotin Rx squad, 61-49, for their 11th consecutive victory in an unbeaten season.

The A-I squad has one game left to play, but runnerup Sickler's (9-2) were eliminated.

Another title was decided in the Minor League, where the Raiders wrapped up the bunting by trouncing the 35 Club, 49 to 21. It was the Raiders' 10th victory in 12 starts.

If the Texacos defeat Accord Friday, they will play Byrne Chevrolet for second place.

Kaye Top Scorer

Marty Kaye led the new champions with 20 points on ten shots from the field. Balotin's stayed close in the first half, trailing 26-22 at the intermission, but sagged off in the stretch run when the A-I squad showed a 20-12 advantage.

Lafayette (Champ) Holstein and Tony Grimaldi also hit double figures for the A-I, with 15 points each. John Dillman of Balotin's was the game leader with 27 points.

A big second half swept the Raiders to the Minor crown. They led 15-7 at the half, but ran over the 35 Club, 34-14, after the recess.

Chick Boice pumped 24 points for the winners. Charlie Marable led the losers with seven.

Bonnies Take 13 Straight As Stith Nails 29 Points

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Bonaventure keeps building one of college basketball's top winning streaks while establishing Tom and Sam Stith as the most prolific brother pair on the court.

With Tom Stith nailing 29 points, including two clutch fielders in the last 80 seconds, and brother Sam Stith adding 16, the Bonnies raced to their 13th straight Wednesday night — a 76-70 squeaker over tough Duquesne.

Now 16-3 and 10th-ranked nationally, the Bonnies have only to negotiate Niagara, St. Vincent (Pa.) and Canisius to carry a string of 16 into the NIT opening March 10.

Tom, a 6-5 junior, has a 31.8 average while Sam, a 6-2 senior and a brilliant playmaker, is averaging 19.5 — a brother pace of 50.3. The NCAA service bureau's records show only four high scoring brother acts in the last 25 years with Johnny and Eddie O'Brien of Seattle the record family pair with a combined 45.1 per-game average in 1953.

Villanova and Dayton, slumping NIT teams, added victories while St. Joseph's (Pa.) and Kansas State built their credentials toward NCAA tournament berths in the night's other important games.

Villanova broke a three-game losing string and built its record to 18-4 with a 74-52 rout of Toledo of the Mid-American Conference. Dayton (17-6) also snapped a string of three losses and severed Xavier of Ohio's six-game win streak, 91-82.

St. Joseph's (17-5) tied idle LaSalle for the Middle Atlantic Conference lead at 6-1 with an effortless 83-63 whipping of Bucknell and can clinch the title with its extra game — against Lafayette next week. Kansas State, after its third straight Big Eight Conference championship and NCAA berth, thumped co-leader Kansas 68-57, dumping the Jayhawks into a three-way second place tie with Colorado and Oklahoma. The Sooners joined the company Wednesday night, beating Oklahoma State 59-53.

Short Asks NBA Officials To Decide Future of Club

By GEORGE ESPER
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bob

Short, owner of the Minneapolis Lakers, today called on the National Basketball Assn. board of governors to decide the future of his club.

Short, whose Lakers are financially troubled because of small home crowds, brought the matter before the board which assembled at a special meeting to fix playoff dates.

"We may move the club to Los Angeles, but not the ownership," Short said. "Anything can happen."

A club move requires approval of six of the eight members of the board of governors.

Meanwhile, Maurice Podoloff, president of the NBA, said the tentative date for the start of the playoffs is March 12. Games will be played Saturdays, Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays depending on availability of home sites.

In both the East and West divisions the second and third place teams will meet in the best of three series with the winners playing the first place clubs in a best of seven series. The divisional winners will clash in a best of seven for the world championship, won by Boston last year.

Podoloff said the National Broadcasting Company will televise the Saturday and Sunday games throughout the playoffs.

In games Wednesday night, Boston clinched at least a tie for the Eastern title and set a league record for games won in a single season by beating Minneapolis 131-110 at College Park, Md. The triumph was Boston's 53rd, which bettered by one the mark the Celtics established last year.

At Detroit, Gene Shue collected 37 points in a 128-110 victory over Syracuse to bring his total to 1,520, smashing the single season scoring record for a guard. The mark previously was held by Boston's Bob Cousy who tallied 1,504 in the 1954-55 season.

In the opener of the Detroit doubleheader Cincinnati edged St. Louis 124-122 on a 20-foot hook shot Jordan with three seconds remaining.

Other Upstate scores were: Hartford 70, Ithaca 64; Rochester Tech 73, Toronto 67 (overtime); Hobart 75, Rochester 68; and Williams 73, RPI 59.

NORTON TALKS ON OSOWICK

Kenny Norton, the popular cage coach at Manhattan College, is still high on Alex Osowick, the DUSO Basketball League record holder, but his voice has a tinge of disappointment in it. This observer and Andy Murphy talked briefly with Norton at the West Point-Manhattan game Saturday at the Academy. Kenny had started Osowick for the first time this season, but he had to yank him early as Alex showed his sophomoreitis. The expert Jervis great couldn't seem to untrack himself.

Norton said he started Ossie because Manhattan was playing in the area in which he became famous and he thought some of the hometown Port Jervis fans would be at the game. The Manhattan coach said Osowick is a great shooter, but slow and very green.

"He's still learning this year and because of all the close games we've been in, there hasn't been much of a chance to play him. However, I'm sure he will play as a regular by the time he's a senior," Norton said.

For those fans who have only recently started to follow DUSO League basketball, Osowick holds the single game record with a 62 point performance against Fallsburgh and he has the mark for most points in a season. He tallied 484 during 1956-57, when he was a senior.

The Manhattan roster lists Ossie as 6-5 and 186 pounds which is much more than he weighed in high school.

One thing is certain. Osowick is learning the fine rudiments of basketball under one of the great teachers in the game. And if Norton thinks he can make it, we'll go along with the redhead.

SOME QUICK NOTES

Middletown High has filled its football schedule for 1960. Yonkers Central will replace Peckskill on the Middle slate next year and the rest of the schedule will be the same as 1959. In addition to Yonkers Central, the Middies will play outside games with Haverstraw, A. B. Davis and Suffern and has league contests with Port Jervis, Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh. . . . The long-awaited testimonial for George "Lanky" Masterson, retired Newburgh Eree Academy basketball coach, is scheduled for March 23 at the Hotel Newburgh. Featured speaker will be Ben Carnvale, Navy cage mentor. . . . Swimming has joined the list of varsity sports at Poughkeepsie High. The team has carded a couple of meets and will participate in the DUSO meet at Fallsburgh. . . . Leo Lillimaggi, the Highland High School battering ram, was named to the All-American honorable mention team by high school coaches. Many colleges are seeking his services for the next four years. . . . For those who think Joe Uhl did nothing but shoot when he shattered the Kingston High single game scoring record against Fallsburgh last Friday, these statistics will tell otherwise. Joe took only 29 shots and he made 16 for a percentage of better than .500. He also grabbed 17 rebounds and was credited with four assists. A pretty fair night for the junior star. . . . Our nomination for the most unsung ballplayer in the DUSO is Gary Barnes of Kingston. He just does his job each time out without benefit of fanfare. . . . That playoff game for the DCSL title between Arlington and Saugerties is almost a reality. If Arlington beats Beacon Friday night, the playoff will probably take place next week. Our pick is the Sawyers, 66-62. . . . Incidentally, the Freeman's All-DCSL First and Second team will be published on Thursday, March 10.

Carpino Upsets Sangaline In City Pockets Contest

Indians Hit Bisons To Take Fast Game

The Buffalo Bisons can blame the pace-setting Springfield Indians in general, and Bill Sweeney, in particular, for still being in third place in the American Hockey League today.

With a chance to jump pass the idle Rochester Americans into second place, the Bisons last night lost to the Indians 6-4 in the league's only game. And Sweeney scored three of Springfield's goals.

Sweeney put together the hat trick within a space of less than seven minutes in a wild second period. Both teams scored a total of seven goals in 10 minutes.

Sweeney also assisted on a goal by Parker MacDonald.

There was a big upset in the city pocket billiard tournament last night and the railbirds suspect there might be another tonight.

Mike Carpino staged a sensational reversal in defeating highly favored Charlie Sangaline, 125-158. Sangaline was unable to accumulate the 35 ball handicap he gave his opponent.

Carpino's victory virtually eased unbeaten Gene Brown into the title, but the Wiltwyck Wizard takes on Pete Wolff to night and must yield a 35-ball handicap. Some of the experts figure he can't make it.

Sangaline pocketed a high run of 29 last night. Carpino's best string was 19.

Ernst Hinterseer, a 27-year-old Austrian farmer and a last-minute replacement for one of his nation's disappointing aces, made two trips down the tricky 67-gate KT22 mountain course in a total of 2:08.9 to beat his countryman, 20-year-old Hias Leitner, by 1.4 seconds in the men's slalom. The 1,935-foot course dropped 708 feet.

Grishin, a 28-year-old Army lieutenant, stumbled on his last turn but still managed to equal his world record and Olympic winning time of 1956. Bill Disney, 27-year-old rug cleaner from Alhambra, Calif., was second in 40.3 seconds. Grishin's teammate, Rafael Grach, won the bronze medal in 40.4.

McDermott Is Seventh

Dic McDermott of Essexville, Mich., was seventh in 40.9 and Eddie Rudolph of Northbrook, Ill., tied for tenth in 41.2.

In the slalom, the Americans wound up this way: 9th, Tom Corcoran, Beaconsfield, Quebec, 2:14.7 and 37th, Frank Brown, McCall, Idaho, 3:01.3. Charles Ferries, Houghton, Mich., originally finished 12th in 2:18.2, but was disqualified. Jim Barrier, of Kalispell, Montana, failed to finish the second run. He had 1:13.4 for the first descent.

There was no hope at all for the Yankees in today's two championship events—the men's 40-kilometer 24.85 miles cross-country relay race and the men's 5,000-meter speed skating.

Norway and Sweden were favored over Finland and the Soviets in the ski race.

Soviets Win Titles

The Soviets were expected to go on another point spree in the speed skating. They have copied four of the five speed skating titles decided so far—three of them by the Soviet girls.

David Jenkins, world champion from Colorado Springs, Colo., slightly trailed Czechoslovakia's Karl Divin, the 1958-9 European king, and Alain Giletti, France's reigning European titlist, after the completion of the first three compulsory figures of the men's figure skating championship.

At the end of three figures, Divin, not in Jenkins' free-skating class, had 415 points; Giletti 403; Jenkins 400.2; Don Jackson of Canada 392.0; Tim Brown of Berkeley, Calif., 389.9, and Robert Brewer of Alhambra, Calif., 380.5.

Jenkins and the hockey team were the only American possibilities to add to the one gold medal earned by figure skating queen Carol Heiss of Ozone Park, N.Y.

Winter Weather Threatens Start Of Golf Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Winter and threatening weather raised serious doubts whether the $20,000 Texas Open, one of the oldest golf tournaments on the winter tour, would start on schedule today.

A sweeping norther covered much of Texas with ice and snow Wednesday and this area was promised snow or rain today.

Arnold Palmer is the favorite in the 39th annual tournament on the 6,729-yard Ft. Sam Houston course. Others among the 150 entrants are Fred Hawkins, Bob Goalby and Mike Souchak.

Top golfers not taking part in the event are Dow Finsterwald, Jerry Barber, Ken Venturi, Don January and Jack Fleck, who said he was withdrawing because of a sore foot.

Palmer is top money winner of the year with $16,122. Hawkins is next with $8,103 and Goalby has won $7,905.

Jim Howell Set To Resign Next Season as Coach

NEW YORK (AP)—Next season will be the last for Jim Lee Howell as head coach of the New York Giants in the National Football League.

"I'm a naturally lazy and relaxed guy," said Howell Wednesday as he dropped a surprise bombshell of his resignation at a luncheon to introduce the new NFL commissioner, Pete Rozelle.

"Although we lost only three games last fall, I couldn't forget the defeats."

Howell, 45, has led the club to three Eastern Division championships and one world championship in six years as head coach. The Giants lost the world title to Baltimore the last two years. After next year, he'll become personnel director for the Giants. At no cut in salary, now estimated at $22,000 a year.

President Jack Mara said there would be no naming of a successor until after next season.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Mickey Mantle is standing pat in a quiet tug of war over contract terms with the New York Yankees.

He may even be a holdout this season for the first time in his baseball career, the slugging Yankee outfielder said Wednesday.

New Storms Hit Southwest Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wintry snow and sleet storms, dealing crippling blows as they swept across Southwest sections, spread into the Ohio and Lower Mississippi Valleys today.

Most of Texas was staggered by the violent weather, the worst in a series of storms this winter. Zero cold invaded the South Plains, which was covered in some areas with a seven-inch snowfall.

Hundreds of families in East Texas were without heat or electricity because of power failures and natural gas line breaks. Scores of schools remained closed. Snowstorms also belted eastern New Mexico, southern Oklahoma and Arkansas Wednesday. Falls ranged up to six inches in southern and central New Mexico and parts of Arkansas. The first snow in nine years fell in Texarkana, Ark.

Warnings of heavy snow — four inches or more — were issued by the Weather Bureau for areas in a band 100 to 200 miles wide from Arkansas northeast through southeast Missouri, most of Kentucky and southeast Ohio.

Rain and freezing rain which pelted northern sections of Louisiana and Mississippi and central and west Tennessee were expected to change to snow in many areas. The snow line extended into southern parts of Illinois and Indiana, with snow in prospect for other parts of the two states.

Travel slowed across the wide belt of rain and snow. Two traffic deaths in Arkansas were attributed to icy highways.

The stormy weather extended over all parts of Texas. Heaviest snow, seven inches, was in the Lubbock area in the South Plains. It was cold again in northern Midwest sections and from Colorado into parts of the nearby plains, with temperatures below zero.

Trooper on Stand Today in Greene Trial of Newcomb

The trial of Everett Newcomb, 21, entered its second day this morning in Greene County Court with Sgt. James Buckley, BCI, of the Leeds state police on the stand.

Newcomb is charged with attempted murder first degree in the shooting last Oct. 17 of a Catskill village patrolman, Louis Jeune. Jeune recovered from his injuries.

Brother in Prison

Newcomb's brother, Hayward, 23, took a guilty plea last fall and was sentenced to a term of from 10 to 20 years in Clinton Prison, Dannemora.

The first witness Wednesday morning was Kenneth L. Stone, 17, of South Cortright, Delaware County, who became involved with the Newcomb brothers after the shooting. A car owned by Stone's uncle was used to transport certain items which had been stolen in a series of burglaries by the Newcomb brothers.

Stone was brought to the Greene County Courthouse Wednesday from the Delaware County jail, Delhi, where he is serving a term for another burglary.

During the afternoon Trooper Joseph Valicenti of the Leeds barracks was on the stand, followed by Sgt. Buckley. Everett is also charged with burglary third, petit larceny, receiving and withholding stolen property, and attempted burglary third.

This is his second trial, the first last December resulting in a mistrial when one of the 12 jurors suffered a slight heart attack and was unable to sit. No alternate jurors were available, having been excused by County Judge Roy Moon.

Everett's brother, Hayward, is being returned today from Dannemora and will probably take the stand Friday.

Patrolman Jeune attempted to stop the Newcomb brothers for a routine check early Saturday morning, Oct. 17. They took off with Jeune pursuing.

Pulling into an abandoned gas station on Route 9W north of Catskill, Hayward opened fire with a high-powered rifle. Jeune was admitted to Greene County Memorial Hospital with bullet wounds of the left shoulder, neck, chin and cheek.

HE'S CHANGED: The barber actually got his name from trimming beards, since "barba" is Latin for beard. When men began to get their hair cut instead of their beards, the barber shifted to this job without changing his name.

Heavy Snow Due For State Areas

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Another heavy snowfall of six inches or more will hit most of storm-battered New York State tonight and Friday, the Weather Bureau predicted today.

In the lower Hudson Valley, rain may temper the snow Friday, the bureau said.

Temperatures are expected to be mostly in the 20s through Friday. Winds will range between 10 and 25 miles an hour, with some stronger gusts, the bureau said.

Hardin Admits He Slashed Father, Put on Probation

Clester Hardin, 34, of 221 East Strand, arrested Feb. 12 on a second degree assault charge after a report that he had cut his father, Major Hardin, 53, of 18 Ann Street, with a razor blade, pleaded guilty today before City Judge Aaron E. Klein to the lesser charge of third degree assault.

Judge Klein imposed a suspended sentence of a year in jail and placed him on probation for a period not to exceed three years. The plea to the lesser charge was by consent of the complainant, counsel, and the district attorney's office, represented by Attorney John E. Gotti.

Police said Hardin had cut his father on the left arm and side. The latter was treated at Kingston Hospital, where, it was reported, 29 sutures were used in closing the wounds.

The defendant, police said, had been arrested on similar assault charges for inflicting wounds on a man in September, 1958, and again on complaint of another man in January, 1959.

Attorney Frank Martucci appeared for the defendant.

FBI Poster Warns Motorists Against Hitch-Hiker Lifts

A warning to motorists who are prone to picking up hitch-hikers has been issued in the form of a poster by the FBI.

Argentina Gives Up Submarine Search

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The Argentine navy has given up trying to trap a mystery submarine many Argentines doubt ever existed.

Navy Secretary Gaston Clement Wednesday night announced an end to search operations in Golfo Nuevo, where the navy had said the sub was hiding. Clement said the intruder had been made with the intruder for several days.

An all-out search was launched after ships reported detecting a submarine in the south coast gulf Jan. 30. The bulk of Argentina's naval forces blockaded the 20-by-40-mile gulf and dropped depth charges repeatedly.

J. Edgar Hoover, director, in a letter to sheriffs asks that the posters be placed in positions where Driver Training classes in schools may see it.

The Poster "Death in Disguise," is addressed to all American Motorists and cautions them "Don't Look for Trouble." Sheriff Claude Bell, commenting on the poster, said if motorists would heed the warning issued by the FBI and cease to pick up hitch-hikers there would be far less highway crime.

To impress the careless motorist who continues to pick up hitch-hikers in violation of state law, the poster has this caution:

"Don't pick up trouble. Is he a happy vacationer or an escaped criminal? A pleasant companion or a sex maniac? A friendly traveler or a vicious murderer? In the gamble with hitch-hikers your safety and the lives of your loved ones are at stake. Don't take risks."
